The Community Chest selected new officers and the chairmen of its next fund drive in Monday night's session at the Chamber of Commerce offices here.

New president of the Chest is Leonard Essman, co-chairman of the successful 1955 fund drive. He succeeds Donald R. Murdock as president.

Dr. John Richards was elected first vice president and Miss Mary Frances Snider will double as treasurer and second vice president. Perse E. Harlow will continue as executive secretary.

As fund drive co-chairmen for 1956, the directors selected Miss Edith Wilson and Russell Hinchee. Last year, Hinchee was in charge of business district solicitation and Miss Wilson, of the city residential drive.

The meeting was the first for two new board members, Mrs. Robert Caldwell and H. F. Schlue. Other directors at the session were Miss Louise Ritter, Mrs. W. P. Noble and Lawrence Grim.

THE OUTGOING directors are John Wiley, Ray Maynard and C. L. Musser.

The outgoing president, Murdock, opened the meeting.

Essman, taking over after his election, pointed out that during Murdock's term as president, the Community Chest had conducted its most successful drive since the very first one seven years ago.

Essman's first official act was to appoint three new board members to one-year terms. The three, all of whom were active in last year's Red Feather campaign, were Miss Edith Wilson, Max Morrow and Lawrence (Bucky) Dumford.

During the business session, the board set Aug. 15 as the deadline for participating agencies to submit their budget requests.

Robert Poppen, field executive for Fayette County's Boy Scout program, told members of the district Scout committee at their meeting Monday night that he had been transferred to a new district, in Dayton's metropolitan area.

Robert Poppen

For the past four years, Poppen has been the professional Scout executive for Fayette and Highland counties. He has been a resident of this city since taking over the two - county area for the Boy Scouts.

The total of 22 units in this county represents a 100 percent increase during his four-year tenure.

In Poppen's new district in Dayton, there are 54 active units. In the two - county area Poppen oversees, there are now 31 units.

Moving to Dayton with him will be his wife, Mary Jean, and his two daughters, Kathy, 2, and Mary, 4 months.

You may not know it, but there's a whole magazine-full of new writers coming along at Washington C. H. Junior High School.

And they've got the magazine to prpove it, too. I've just got ahold of "Compositions for the First Semester," with pieces authored by 39 of the eighth and ninth grade English students at WHS.

All the youngsters are students in the seventh grade English classes of Miss Ruth Stecher or the eight grade class of Miss Ethel Arnold.

The magazine, a neatly mimeographed booklet of 48 pages, contains nearly 50 stories, poems, articles, parodies and what-have-you. Their topics range from space travell to a dozen dogs who dyed their fur.

The purpose and the contents of the magazine are summed up neatly in Jane Penrod's foreword:

"We, the junior high of Washington C. H. High School, have brought forth our ability to write in this booklet.

"We hope you will enjoy the tragic, humorous and adventuresome tales which we wish to display before our readers."

"Some of these stories display true adventure, but we hope all of them display true talent.

"As you turn the pages of this booklet, please realize that we are only amateurs. (As if you couldn't tell that when you read these pages!)

"There are some real cool cats in this book—so go to it, man, go to it!"

I'll second that. I think you'll be surprised—I know I was—at the quality of the writing these youngsters turn out.

Despite Snow, 1956 Spring Is Underway

(By The Associated Press)

Spring is here—at least, it is here officially.

There may still be patches of snow on the ground in many areas of Ohio and it might seem a bit chilly for the traditionally "balmy" season, but the Weather Bureau reported spring arrived officially at 10:21 a. m. today.

Despite the "unseasonable" cold the Weather Bureau anticipated clear skies and a possible high today of 44 after last night's subfreezing temperatures.

Ohioans might be in for a more appropriate preview of the season tomorrow. The forecast was partly cloudy and warmer.

The falling Ohio River was back under flood stages today.

The river dropped under Cincinnati's 52-foot flood stage last night and continued falling at an increasing rate.

But the U. S. Weather Bureau said precipitation is expected in the next two days that would reverse the river's ebbing trend.

The Ohio spilled out about a foot over flood stages in Cincinnati and further upriver, but little damage was reported. Some basin roads were blocked off to traffic here and at Portsmouth.

The river is expected to fall in the Queen City area to 48.5 feet by tomorrow morning.

At Portsmouth the river was expected to reach 45 feet today and drop another three feet by tomorrow morning.

Judge Declines Forger's Check

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Robert E. Bennett, 53, charged with three counts of forgery involving checks totaling $72.99, heard the court set a hearing date and fix bail at $1,000.

"Can I give you a check for the bail?" he asked Judge Lyman B Sutter. "No, thanks," the judge said promptly, remanding Bennett to jail.

Mr X's Challenge Accepted By Cops

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The police department has accepted the challenge of "Mr. X."

The department received this taunting note, signed "Mr. X," yesterday: "I pulled two jobs Wednesday night. See if you can find out who I am."

Mr. X sent what he said is his photograph, but he smeared green ink on it. Police sent it to the crime laboratory, where the likeness was restored with infrared rays. Reconstructed copies were sent to all officers, with orders to bring in the man.

"We'll try to accommodate this fellow," said Capt. Jack Donahue.

Primary Vote In Minnesota Is Barometer

Vital Test Faced By Stevenson And Kefauver Now

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota lays its votes on the line today in a "chips down" presidential primary election.

For the Democrats, it's Adlai E. Stevenson against Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the man Stevenson bowled over at the national convention four years ago on the way to a presidential nomination he said he never sought.

This time he is seeking convention votes—30 of them from Minnesota. So is Kefauver.

For the Republicans, it is President Eisenhower, winning without running or hoisting a foot. He will get 28 votes at the GOP convention next August.

Sen. William F. Knowland of California is in the GOP primary in name only. He hopped out of Eisenhower's way after the President said "Yes" on a second term, but not in time to get his name off the Minnesota ballot.

* * *

THIS IS THE nation's second primary. Stevenson and Kefauver are on the same ballot for the first time, along with slates of convention delegates pledged to them. So Minnesota supplies a more incisive test than the primary last Tuesday in New Hampshire, where Kefauver picked off all eight convention votes.

Stevenson kept his name off the ballot in New Hampshire and didn't wade into the campaign there, although a delegate slate "favorable" to him was entered.

In Minnesota, except for a small but fervent committee of helpers, Kefauver has had to campaign pretty much on his own against what he says have been formidable "handicaps and obstacles."

Massed behind Stevenson have been all the influence and activity of the state party organization, led by Gov. Orville Freeman and Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

Consequently, if Stevenson is to win heavily in any primary, he ought to do it in this one. He has been favored right along, mainly because of the array of organized power in his corner.

But how much of Kefauver's acceleration in small towns and farm areas will carry over into today's balloting?

How many Republicans will cross into the Democratic primary and vote for Kefauver, not to help the senator but to hurt the Democratic organization?

How many Democrats will switch from Stevenson to Kefauver because of the formal endorsement of the Democratic State Central Committee handed to Stevenson only? Kefauver supporters contend this was an effort to tell Democrats how to mark their ballots.

Northeast Fights Out Of Blizzard

NEW YORK (AP)—The blizzard-battered Northeast fought to dig out from under a crippling mass of snow today on the first day of spring.

A blizzard born in West Virginia Sunday petered out on the New England coast today, with the last snowfall forecast for Maine

The storm followed in the tracks of another blizzard that swept the Northeast Friday night. The double assault hit a 14-state area and caused at least 135 deaths most in traffic accidents or from overexertion.

Malenkov Says Dictators Gone

New Chiefs 'Clean Up' Russia, Britons Told

LONDON (AP) — Former Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov says the present Kremlin command has "cleaned up" Russia and that a Stalin dictatorship can never rise again in his homeland.

Malenkov, now Soviet minister of power stations, was a dinner guest of labor members of Parliament last night and was reported to have given his views on the Soviet situation in a two-hour question and answer period.

Richard Crossman, one of the hosts, reported that Malenkov "repeatedly said, 'We have cleaned up Russia.' "

"He tried to impress on us that we need not worry," Crossman said, "that they had stopped dictatorships, that they had stopped the wicked things.

"He said very, very clearly it could not happen again, that collective government now has been firmly established and that dictatorship could not return.

"I cannot say how many of us he convinced, but he certainly tried hard."

Sidney Silverman, another Laborite who attended the dinner, said Malenkov told the group:

* * *

"COLLECTIVE leadership is now established, along with the right to dissent outside the collective leadership without being branded a traitor to the leadership and party and people."

"We did not ask him about his association with Stalin or his position in the Soviet herrarchy now," Silverman said, "but he gave us the impression he did not like Stalin."

Malenkov succeeded to the premiership after Stalin's death. Since he resigned from that post last year, confessing inability to do the job, there has been speculation about the security of his position in the Kremlin lineup.

Wife Says Mate 'Looks Like Horse'

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston police missing persons bureau received a request from a Dallas woman for help in locating her husband whom she said had deserted her and three children.

The police asked for a description of the missing husband. They got this answer:

"He has a flat forehead and a large nose and mouth. All in all, he looks like a horse."

Senate-passed Farm Bill Labeled 'Unworkable;' Benson May Ask Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Knowland said today Secretary of Agriculture Benson regards the Senate approved farm bill as "unworkable."

The California senator predicted Benson will recommend a presidential veto unless the measure is modified.

Knowland talked to White House newsmen after he and other GOP congressional leaders concluded their regular weekly conference with President Eisenhower. Benson also sat in at the session.

The Senate passed the omnibus farm bill last night 93-2 after loading it with amendments the administration had opposed. Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said it contains features that would warrant "three or four vetoes."

The bill now goes to a Senate-House conference committee for reconciliation of the many differences in separate bills passed by the two branches of Congress.

The Senate bill contains authority for a soil bank, the major 1956 recommendation of the Eisenhower administration. But several provisions of that program, designed to take land out of production and thus reduce surpluses, were subjected to major revision.

And while the bill nominally retains the administration's flexible price support system, that system was supplemented by a "two-price" plan for rice, a similar optional one for wheat, and hedged in by "set asides" which would have the effect of boosting sharply the price supports for wheat, corn and cotton.

* * *

FINAL ACTION followed eight straight days of voting during which debate was limited, and 11 days of unrestricted debate before that.

Senators Bush (R-Conn) and Flanders (R-Vt) cast the only "no" votes. Sen. Ives (R-NY), said by aides to have suffered a stomach upset earlier, was the only senator who did not vote.

Senate passage moved the bill to the House, expected to act promptly to send it to a Senate-House conference committee assigned the thorny task of working out a compromise.

Last May 5 the House, over administration objections, voted to support prices of basic crops at 90 per cent of parity and those of dairy products at 80 per cent of parity. Parity is a standard set up in farm law and declared to be fair to producers in relation to their costs.

The Senate rejected rigid 90 per cent price props for basic crops. On dairy products, its bill is similar to the House's.

The House did not consider the soil bank nor many of the other provisions in the Senate bill.

Since the planting season has already begun in some areas, the administration has been urging speedy action.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) who as chairman of the Agriculture Committee acted as floor manager for the bill in the Senate, said he still hopes that a compromise can be worked out and sent to President Eisenhower in about 10 days.

Unpredictable were the form a Senate-House compromise might take and Eisenhower's reaction to such a compromise. There have been predictions Eisenhower would veto any bill which provided a return to rigid price supports.

Aiken, chief spokesman for the administration in the Senate debate, said there was "enough in the bill to warrant a veto—perhaps three or four vetoes." He said it would be better to keep the present law.

Aiken termed the bill "tortured and battered . . . emasculated beyond any visible resemblance to the program recommended by the President."

Sens. John W. Bricker and George H. Bender, Ohio Republicans, both voted in favor of the bill.

The two also voted together on three amendments to the farm bill, favoring the Holland amendment to deny price supports, effective in 1957, to most farmers if they fail to participate in the soil bank program. The Holland amendment passed, 48-46.

The two Ohio senators opposed: The Kerr-George amendment to assure farmers support price or a fair price in purchase programs carried out by the Agriculture Department. Adopted 49-44.

The Humphrey - Young amendment to boost support levels on wheat, cotton and corn by putting large quantities of these commodities into a mandatory government "set-aside." Passed 50-40.

Local Manager For Chamber Being Sought

Directors of the Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce agreed Monday evening to seek a local man for the Chamber's general manager.

This action was taken in a meeting held at Kirk's Furniture Store and John Breiner was named to head the committee to select him.

Applications of all individuals who are interested in the position can be made to John Breiner, Box 270 Washington C. H.

The action to find a local man was decided upon after the directors stated they wanted "to exhaust all local possibilities first." If this can't be done they said, "then we will be forced to look elsewhere."

The previous three managers have come here from outside this area and all have resigned and moved to larger cities after serving the Chamber here for a comparative short time.

Directors expressed the hope that a local man can be found who will meet with the approval of the directors and members and will not leave the job after serving a year or two.

Survey Shows Ohio Is for Ike

By JACK BELL

COLUMBUS (AP)—Pivotal Ohio is warming up these early spring days to a presidential campaign in which the betting centers on how emphatically (not whether) President Eisenhower carries the state in November.

A presidential health setback could reverse the trend sharply. But there are clear surface indications now that an Eisenhower-headed GOP ticket will surmount current farm dissatisfaction and traditional labor union support for the Democrats to sweep the state's 25 electoral votes into the Republican column.

Whether the GOP can reelect Sen. George Bender in a contest that might decide party control of the Senate next year appears to depend largely on how deeply the magic of Ike's name penetrates down the ballot.

Eisenhower carried Ohio by 500,000 out of 3,700,000 votes in 1952. At the same time, Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche, now running against Bender, rolled up a 425,000 margin over Charles P. Taft for the governorship.

Lausche, who won a fifth term by a 212,000 margin out of 2,663,000 votes in 1954, is sailing on a new political sea. Whether he can ride out an expected Eisenhower tide remains to be seen.

Meanwhile, the politically-canny governor has lined up most of Ohio's 58-vote delegation to the Democratic national convention under his banner as a "favorite son."

Tuition Pupils Outside City to Go Elsewhere

Action Is Taken By Board To Solve Its Own Problems

The Washington C. H. School Board took two momentus steps toward solving its own school problems "in view of the circumstances created by the failure of the transfer of the territory from the Miami Trace Local School District to the City School District" when it met in regular session Monday night:

(1) It first entered into an agreement with the Ohio Water Service Co. to purchase and (2) it closed the doors to all tuition pupils from outside the city school district.

The agreement to purchase a 29¼-acre tract on Elm Street, between Columbus and Washington Avenues, for $1,000 an acre (approximately $29,250) for a new school building after a bond issue to finance the building program is passed. If the bond issue is approved, the School Board has 60 days to complete formal documents for the purchase.

The Water Co. for its part agrees to sell the tract at the $1,000 figure.

* * *

IN A LETTER from the company outlining the proposition which was accepted by the board, it was explained that this unusual type of proposition was made by the company because it was realized that the School Board could not, under the law, take an option on the tract.

George Pensyl and O. D. Farquhar, director of the company, presented the proposal to the board. Pensyl said the company made the proposition as a gesture of good will; Farquhar added that three prospective buyers (he did not identify them) had made inquiries about the tract for subdividing for new homes.

The tract extended 1520 feet along Elm Street and 950 feet along Willard Street.

The agreement is based on the November election this year. This stands as evidence that the School Board will submit a building program this year.

* * *

BEFORE THE board adopted the resolution to close the doors to pupils outside the city district, it discussed many alternatives, but each time came back to the feeling that failure of nearly six years of efforts to persuade the county board to approach mutual problems cooperatively, the board would have to assume the only alternative—to try to solve its own problems.

By excluding the tuition pupils—boys and girls who live outside the district and who have been attending Washington C. H. High School—classroom space could be provided to take care of the situation until a building program is completed.

The new plan is to go into effect after this school year.

FBI Chief Warns Reds To Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says the U. S. Communist party is planning "an intensive crusade which will last four to six months" with the aim of undermining anti-Red legislation.

Hoover said party plans contemplate "a more open activity" and various legal maneuvers including employment of "eminent counsel to defend the party and its leaders." He said the Communists are counting on a more favorable political atmosphere growing out of last July's summit conference.

Cleveland Set For Fluoridation

CLEVELAND (AP)—The city made plans today to start adding florides to Cleveland's water supply June 1, but Councilwoman Jean Murrell Capers vowed she would take the issue to the voters.

Council last night rejected 21-11 her resolution which would have halted fluoridation, a public health measure whose advocates say would cut down on the amount of tooth decay in children.

Mrs. Capers needs 5,000 signatures to get the stop-fluoridation measure on the November election ballot. She said she has other anti-fluoridation petitions with 10,000 names.

Woman Driver's Auto Narrowed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs Ethel H. Roe made two slight miscalculations:

1. She placed her foot on what she thought was the brake pedal, but it was the accelerator, and

2. She drove her sedan between a lamppost and a telephone pole.

The front half of the car now is narrower.

Sen. William F. Knowland of California is in the GOP primary in name only. He hopped out of Eisenhower's way after the President said "Yes" on a second term, but not in time to get his name off the Minnesota ballot.

* * *

THIS IS THE nation's second primary. Stevenson and Kefauver are on the same ballot for the first time, along with slates of convention delegates pledged to them. So Minnesota supplies a more incisive test than the primary last Tuesday in New Hampshire, where Kefauver picked off all eight convention votes.

Stevenson kept his name off the ballot in New Hampshire and didn't wade into the campaign there, although a delegate slate "favorable" to him was entered.

In Minnesota, except for a small but fervent committee of helpers, Kefauver has had to campaign pretty much on his own against what he says have been formidable "handicaps and obstacles."

Massed behind Stevenson have been all the influence and activity of the state party organization, led by Gov. Orville Freeman and Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

Consequently, if Stevenson is to win heavily in any primary, he ought to do it in this one. He has been favored right along, mainly because of the array of organized power in his corner.

But how much of Kefauver's acceleration in small towns and farm areas will carry over into today's balloting?

How many Republicans will cross into the Democratic primary and vote for Kefauver, not to help the senator but to hurt the Democratic organization?

How many Democrats will switch from Stevenson to Kefauver because of the formal endorsement of the Democratic State Central Committee handed to Stevenson only? Kefauver supporters contend this was an effort to tell Democrats how to mark their ballots.

Northeast Fights Out Of Blizzard

NEW YORK (AP)—The blizzard-battered Northeast fought to dig out from under a crippling mass of snow today on the first day of spring.

A blizzard born in West Virginia Sunday petered out on the New England coast today, with the last snowfall forecast for Maine

The storm followed in the tracks of another blizzard that swept the Northeast Friday night. The double assault hit a 14-state area and caused at least 135 deaths most in traffic accidents or from overexertion.

Malenkov Says Dictators Gone

New Chiefs 'Clean Up' Russia, Britons Told

LONDON (AP) — Former Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov says the present Kremlin command has "cleaned up" Russia and that a Stalin dictatorship can never rise again in his homeland.

Malenkov, now Soviet minister of power stations, was a dinner guest of labor members of Parliament last night and was reported to have given his views on the Soviet situation in a two-hour question and answer period.

Richard Crossman, one of the hosts, reported that Malenkov "repeatedly said, 'We have cleaned up Russia.' "

"He tried to impress on us that we need not worry," Crossman said, "that they had stopped dictatorships, that they had stopped the wicked things.

"He said very, very clearly it could not happen again, that collective government now has been firmly established and that dictatorship could not return.

"I cannot say how many of us he convinced, but he certainly tried hard."

Sidney Silverman, another Laborite who attended the dinner, said Malenkov told the group:

* * *

"COLLECTIVE leadership is now established, along with the right to dissent outside the collective leadership without being branded a traitor to the leadership and party and people."

"We did not ask him about his association with Stalin or his position in the Soviet herrarchy now," Silverman said, "but he gave us the impression he did not like Stalin."

Malenkov succeeded to the premiership after Stalin's death. Since he resigned from that post last year, confessing inability to do the job, there has been speculation about the security of his position in the Kremlin lineup.

Wife Says Mate 'Looks Like Horse'

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston police missing persons bureau received a request from a Dallas woman for help in locating her husband whom she said had deserted her and three children.

The police asked for a description of the missing husband. They got this answer:

"He has a flat forehead and a large nose and mouth. All in all, he looks like a horse."

Senate-passed Farm Bill Labeled 'Unworkable;' Benson May Ask Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Knowland said today Secretary of Agriculture Benson regards the Senate approved farm bill as "unworkable."

The California senator predicted Benson will recommend a presidential veto unless the measure is modified.

Knowland talked to White House newsmen after he and other GOP congressional leaders concluded their regular weekly conference with President Eisenhower. Benson also sat in at the session.

The Senate passed the omnibus farm bill last night 93-2 after loading it with amendments the administration had opposed. Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said it contains features that would warrant "three or four vetoes."

The bill now goes to a Senate-House conference committee for reconciliation of the many differences in separate bills passed by the two branches of Congress.

The Senate bill contains authority for a soil bank, the major 1956 recommendation of the Eisenhower administration. But several provisions of that program, designed to take land out of production and thus reduce surpluses, were subjected to major revision.

And while the bill nominally retains the administration's flexible price support system, that system was supplemented by a "two-price" plan for rice, a similar optional one for wheat, and hedged in by "set asides" which would have the effect of boosting sharply the price supports for wheat, corn and cotton.

* * *

FINAL ACTION followed eight straight days of voting during which debate was limited, and 11 days of unrestricted debate before that.

Senators Bush (R-Conn) and Flanders (R-Vt) cast the only "no" votes. Sen. Ives (R-NY), said by aides to have suffered a stomach upset earlier, was the only senator who did not vote.

Senate passage moved the bill to the House, expected to act promptly to send it to a Senate-House conference committee assigned the thorny task of working out a compromise.

Last May 5 the House, over administration objections, voted to support prices of basic crops at 90 per cent of parity and those of dairy products at 80 per cent of parity. Parity is a standard set up in farm law and declared to be fair to producers in relation to their costs.

The Senate rejected rigid 90 per cent price props for basic crops. On dairy products, its bill is similar to the House's.

The House did not consider the soil bank nor many of the other provisions in the Senate bill.

Since the planting season has already begun in some areas, the administration has been urging speedy action.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) who as chairman of the Agriculture Committee acted as floor manager for the bill in the Senate, said he still hopes that a compromise can be worked out and sent to President Eisenhower in about 10 days.

Unpredictable were the form a Senate-House compromise might take and Eisenhower's reaction to such a compromise. There have been predictions Eisenhower would veto any bill which provided a return to rigid price supports.

Aiken, chief spokesman for the administration in the Senate debate, said there was "enough in the bill to warrant a veto—perhaps three or four vetoes." He said it would be better to keep the present law.

Aiken termed the bill "tortured and battered . . . emasculated beyond any visible resemblance to the program recommended by the President."

Sens. John W. Bricker and George H. Bender, Ohio Republicans, both voted in favor of the bill.

The two also voted together on three amendments to the farm bill, favoring the Holland amendment to deny price supports, effective in 1957, to most farmers if they fail to participate in the soil bank program. The Holland amendment passed, 48-46.

The two Ohio senators opposed: The Kerr-George amendment to assure farmers support price or a fair price in purchase programs carried out by the Agriculture Department. Adopted 49-44.

The Humphrey - Young amendment to boost support levels on wheat, cotton and corn by putting large quantities of these commodities into a mandatory government "set-aside." Passed 50-40.

Local Manager For Chamber Being Sought

Directors of the Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce agreed Monday evening to seek a local man for the Chamber's general manager.

This action was taken in a meeting held at Kirk's Furniture Store and John Breiner was named to head the committee to select him.

Applications of all individuals who are interested in the position can be made to John Breiner, Box 270 Washington C. H.

The action to find a local man was decided upon after the directors stated they wanted "to exhaust all local possibilities first." If this can't be done they said, "then we will be forced to look elsewhere."

The previous three managers have come here from outside this area and all have resigned and moved to larger cities after serving the Chamber here for a comparative short time.

Directors expressed the hope that a local man can be found who will meet with the approval of the directors and members and will not leave the job after serving a year or two.

Tuition Pupils Outside City to Go Elsewhere

Action Is Taken By Board To Solve Its Own Problems

The Washington C. H. School Board took two momentus steps toward solving its own school problems "in view of the circumstances created by the failure of the transfer of the territory from the Miami Trace Local School District to the City School District" when it met in regular session Monday night:

(1) It first entered into an agreement with the Ohio Water Service Co. to purchase and (2) it closed the doors to all tuition pupils from outside the city school district.

The agreement to purchase a 29¼-acre tract on Elm Street, between Columbus and Washington Avenues, for $1,000 an acre (approximately $29,250) for a new school building after a bond issue to finance the building program is passed. If the bond issue is approved, the School Board has 60 days to complete formal documents for the purchase.

The Water Co. for its part agrees to sell the tract at the $1,000 figure.

* * *

IN A LETTER from the company outlining the proposition which was accepted by the board, it was explained that this unusual type of proposition was made by the company because it was realized that the School Board could not, under the law, take an option on the tract.

George Pensyl and O. D. Farquhar, director of the company, presented the proposal to the board. Pensyl said the company made the proposition as a gesture of good will; Farquhar added that three prospective buyers (he did not identify them) had made inquiries about the tract for subdividing for new homes.

The tract extended 1520 feet along Elm Street and 950 feet along Willard Street.

The agreement is based on the November election this year. This stands as evidence that the School Board will submit a building program this year.

* * *

BEFORE THE board adopted the resolution to close the doors to pupils outside the city district, it discussed many alternatives, but each time came back to the feeling that failure of nearly six years of efforts to persuade the county board to approach mutual problems cooperatively, the board would have to assume the only alternative—to try to solve its own problems.

By excluding the tuition pupils—boys and girls who live outside the district and who have been attending Washington C. H. High School—classroom space could be provided to take care of the situation until a building program is completed.

The new plan is to go into effect after this school year.

It was pointed out that two classes have been held in Grace Church

FBI Chief Warns Reds To Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says the U. S. Communist party is planning "an intensive crusade which will last four to six months" with the aim of undermining anti-Red legislation.

Hoover said party plans contemplate "a more open activity" and various legal maneuvers including employment of "eminent counsel to defend the party and its leaders." He said the Communists are counting on a more favorable political atmosphere growing out of last July's summit conference.

Cleveland Set For Fluoridation

CLEVELAND (AP)—The city made plans today to start adding florides to Cleveland's water supply June 1, but Councilwoman Jean Murrell Capers vowed she would take the issue to the voters.

Council last night rejected 21-11 her resolution which would have halted fluoridation, a public health measure whose advocates say would cut down on the amount of tooth decay in children.

Mrs. Capers needs 5,000 signatures to get the stop-fluoridation measure on the November election ballot. She said she has other anti-fluoridation petitions with 10,000 names.

Survey Shows Ohio Is for Ike

By JACK BELL

COLUMBUS (AP)—Pivotal Ohio is warming up these early spring days to a presidential campaign in which the betting centers on how emphatically (not whether) President Eisenhower carries the state in November.

A presidential health setback could reverse the trend sharply. But there are clear surface indications now that an Eisenhower-headed GOP ticket will surmount current farm dissatisfaction and traditional labor union support for the Democrats to sweep the state's 25 electoral votes into the Republican column.

Whether the GOP can reelect Sen. George Bender in a contest that might decide party control of the Senate next year appears to depend largely on how deeply the magic of Ike's name penetrates down the ballot.

Eisenhower carried Ohio by 500,000 out of 3,700,000 votes in 1952. At the same time, Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche, now running against Bender, rolled up a 425,000 margin over Charles P. Taft for the governorship.

Lausche, who won a fifth term by a 212,000 margin out of 2,663,000 votes in 1954, is sailing on a new political sea. Whether he can ride out an expected Eisenhower tide remains to be seen.

Meanwhile, the politically-canny governor has lined up most of Ohio's 58-vote delegation to the Democratic national convention under his banner as a "favorite son."

Schools Take Action

Approximately 230 boys and girls are now attending the high school from outside the district. This would cut the high school enrollment from 774 now to around 544.

* * *

IN DISCUSSING some of the possibilities this change would open up, there were suggestions that with rural students out, the vocation agriculture department would have to be closed and that the industrial arts department might be shifted to that part of the building and expanded and the industrial arts department converted into classrooms.

It also was suggested that with the enrollment cut, the size of the classes could be cut and the high school put on an 8-period basis.

It was during this phase of the discussion that it was brought out that in three years the high school enrollment (top six grades) would be back up to what it is now. These figures were based on the enrollment in the elementary schools now.

The financial picture was somewhat obscure because all the details of the change-over from the old School Foundation program allocation based on the average daily attendance to the new plan based on the teacher unit plan of 30 pupils per teacher have not been figured.

* * *

HOWEVER, after considerable figuring, the board came up with the conclusion that funds from the School Foundation program under the new teacher unit plan of allocation would just about equal the approximately $30,000 a year the schools would lose through tuition for pupils that have been coming in from outside the district.

The deadline for transferring territory from one school district to another by petition was last Jan. 31. From now until January of 1958, school district territory transfers can be effected only through action of the county school board. Transfer by petition can be effected only in January of even numbered years — 1956, 1958, 1960 etc.

On Jan. 31 the Fayette County Board approved the transfer of a belt of territory around Washington C. H. from the Miami Trace District to the city district.

This transfer was then blocked by remonstrance petitions which were filed with the county board's clerk, Supt. W. J. Hilty, last Saturday.

It was the blocking of this territory transfer that created the "circumstances" which led to the city board's action Monday night.

The board members expressed regret that this action was necessary and prepared a letter to the parents of the tuition pupils. The letter, to be sent home to the parents by the pupils, invited them to come to a meeting in the high school auditorium next Saturday night "to join in a discussion of these problems."

The letter, which was prefaced with the resolution, follows:

"At the regular meeting of the City Board of Education held on March 19, 1956, a motion was adopted as follows:

"In view of the circumstances created by the failure of the transfer of the territory from the Miami Trace Local School District to the City School District, and the problems arising from the increased elementary enrollment, the City Board of Education will not be able to accept any pupils from outside its school district, on either a foreign or a personal tuition basis, beginning in September, 1956.' "

"We regret that this action affecting your children is necessary. Here, as in many districts, we are faced with an increasing school population, and we feel that our first responsibility is to take care of our own children.

"If the transfer had become effective, a partial solution of the problem could have been effected by transferring some of the city elementary pupils to the rural schools on a tuition basis.

"We now plan to use several of the high school classrooms next fall to house some of the elementary grades.

"Realizing that some questions may arise in your minds concerning the necessity for this action, the members of our Board invite you to attend a meeting in the High School auditorium Saturday, March 24, at 8 P. M., to join in a discussion of the problems."

Schools Take Action

Approximately 230 boys and girls are now attending the high school from outside the district. This would cut the high school enrollment from 774 now to around 544.

* * *

IN DISCUSSING some of the possibilities this change would open up, there were suggestions that with rural students out, the vocation agriculture department would have to be closed and that the industrial arts department might be shifted to that part of the building and expanded and the industrial arts department converted into classrooms.

It also was suggested that with the enrollment cut, the size of the classes could be cut and the high school put on an 8-period basis.

It was during this phase of the discussion that it was brought out that in three years the high school enrollment (top six grades) would be back up to what it is now. These figures were based on the enrollment in the elementary schools now.

The financial picture was somewhat obscure because all the details of the change-over from the old School Foundation program allocation based on the average daily attendance to the new plan based on the teacher unit plan of 30 pupils per teacher have not been figured.

* * *

HOWEVER, after considerable figuring, the board came up with the conclusion that funds from the School Foundation program under the new teacher unit plan of allocation would just about equal the approximately $30,000 a year the schools would lose through tuition for pupils that have been coming in from outside the district.

The deadline for transferring territory from one school district to another by petition was last Jan. 31. From now until January of 1958, school district territory transfers can be effected only through action of the county school board. Transfer by petition can be effected only in January of even numbered years — 1956, 1958, 1960 etc.

On Jan. 31 the Fayette County Board approved the transfer of a belt of territory around Washington C. H. from the Miami Trace District to the city district.

This transfer was then blocked by remonstrance petitions which were filed with the county board's clerk, Supt. W. J. Hilty, last Saturday.

It was the blocking of this territory transfer that created the "circumstances" which led to the city board's action Monday night.

The board members expressed regret that this action was necessary and prepared a letter to the parents of the tuition pupils. The letter, to be sent home to the parents by the pupils, invited them to come to a meeting in the high school auditorium next Saturday night "to join in a discussion of these problems."

The letter, which was prefaced with the resolution, follows:

"At the regular meeting of the City Board of Education held on March 19, 1956, a motion was adopted as follows:

"In view of the circumstances created by the failure of the transfer of the territory from the Miami Trace Local School District to the City School District, and the problems arising from the increased elementary enrollment, the City Board of Education will not be able to accept any pupils from outside its school district, on either a foreign or a personal tuition basis, beginning in September, 1956.' "

"We regret that this action affecting your children is necessary. Here, as in many districts, we are faced with an increasing school population, and we feel that our first responsibility is to take care of our own children.

"If the transfer had become effective, a partial solution of the problem could have been effected by transferring some of the city elementary pupils to the rural schools on a tuition basis.

"We now plan to use several of the high school classrooms next fall to house some of the elementary grades.

"Realizing that some questions may arise in your minds concerning the necessity for this action, the members of our Board invite you to attend a meeting in the High School auditorium Saturday, March 24, at 8 P. M., to join in a discussion of the problems."

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have a problem which may seem rather trivial, but right now I am feeling quite desperate. I am in my forties, married 25 years and should be old enough to manage

My husband is a self-made man, with a very successful business, regardless of the fact that he has had only an elementary education. He is a good provider and an indulgent father and pleasant with everyone—except me.

I have five children living, a large house, and do all my own housework—which I don't mind, as I have a pretty good system, I think. I also do a lot of entertaining and we go out an average amount—and therein lies my problem.

My husband is rude to me when we are out amongst our friends; or when anyone is here. He says I imagine it; and I wondered if I were too easily offended; but lately I notice our friends saying things to cover up.

However, a recent dance really brought things to a climax. As we entered, John didn't even walk beside me, but about 15 paces ahead. During supper, we sat together, but he kept his back half turned to me; and he was missing from my side much of the evening. I seem to irritate him when we are out, and I feel I am losing my self-respect.

Is there any solution for this?

L. P.

DEAR L. P.: You do have a serious problem, of course. And in view of your husband's behavior as described, one wonders why he says you imagine it.

Perhaps it is significant that he is a self-made man, of limited schooling. This may mean that he had an underprivileged childhood, with little (if any) opportunity to assimilate gentle manners—which defer to social propriety and others' feelings. It may mean also that he had an emotionally "displaced" childhood—i. e., little (if any) satisfactory contact with mothering-care — such as would help him to become psychologically mature, in due time—in respect to love, sex, marriage and social interchange with womankind

It may be that business success has put many economic problems behind him, such as overhung his early life. And that middle age leisure now exposes, as it were, the unsolved problem of his essentially ignorant unpreparedness to be a good husband. Perhaps this intrinsic problem dawns on him, dimly, as bitter dissatisfaction with the aridity of his disposition towards you.

If there is a solution, it begins in facing the fact that a problem exists, and using intelligence and resourcefulness to rise above it, and to help your husband outgrow it too—if there is personal growth in him. Review the situation firsthand with a professional counsellor in your area. Do all possible to improve your mind, appearance and social graces—to enhance your womanly attractiveness. Become more self-reliant and more lovable in all your dealings—and don't let John's rudeness wreck you.

Property Taxes Top $150,000,000 In State

Personal property taxes paid in Ohio last year topped $150,000,000 according to James A. Rhodes, state auditor, or $10,000,000 more than the previous year's total.

The statewide total on tangible personal property was $124,638,905.32 and on intangible personal property $25,761,562.89— a grand total of $150,400,468.21.

The Fayette County total was listed as $270,917—of which $243,247 was on tangible and $27,690 on intangible personal property.

Previously announced from Rhodes' office was the state wide tax total of $396,303,985.59 on real estate and utilities.

That brings the total tax take for 1955 at Ohio's 88 court houses to well over half a billion dollars—$546,704,453.80, better than $44,000,000 more than the 1954 total.

Out of the $124,638,905.52 collected in tangible personal taxes, schools received $72,130,363.81; cities and villages, $30,729,891.52; counties, $16,380,188.03; townships, $2,857,280.42; state (for World War II bonus bonds), $997,525.88.

From the $25,761,562.89 collected for intangible personal taxes, local political subdivisions received $25,364,674.61, most of which went to public libraries. The state received $63,570.54.

Minor payments went for collectors' fees, auditor and treasurer fees and refunds.

American Clerics Leaving Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — A delegation of visiting American Protestant churchmen left for Leningrad today on the windup of their 10-day visit to the Soviet Union.

The 10 Americans set out after attending midnight Lenten services in Moscow's Russian Orthodox Yelekovsky Cathedral. Patriarch Alexei, head of the church in Russia, presided at the service.

Alexei preached a sermon on foregiveness. He did not mention the American visitors. After the service the congregation filed past the visiting clergymen to thank them for their visit.

"The reception was very warm, as it has been in every church we have visited," said Dr. Eugene C. Blake of Philadelphia, president of the National Council of churches.

Algerian Workers Strike In Moselle

PARIS (AP)—About 12,000 Algerian workers marched out on strike today in the industrial Moselle Valley, protesting France's new emergency measures in Algeria.

The flash strike was called by the Algerian nationalist movement, a pro-independence organization.

Officials estimated the strike was about 75 per cent effective among the Algerians (largely manual laborers) employed in the Moselle steel producing region bordering the Saar.

To make an English lesson more meaningful, Mr. Whiteside's sixth graders of Sunnyside School are using a realistic approach.

The lesson began with learning to conduct a meeting, being a secretary to an organization, and making motions and seconding them.

To make the lesson practical the class organized, voting on a chairman, secretary, and two members of the class to serve with the officers to form the executive committee.

The chairman is Paul Preston-secretary, Lana Huffman, and the two members to serve with the officers on the executive committee are Randy Bolton and Gary Thompson.

Parliamentary procedure is being practiced at each meeting. The minutes are read, approved, corrected, etc. Motions are made, seconded and discussed. Members speak only when recognized and then must address the chairman with the respect his office deserves.

Rising on a point of order has never been used but reasons for its use have been explained. The children know that no new motion can be made until a motion before the group has been acted upon. They are becoming familiar with the order of business, too.

All this work has not been in vain. The children have planned to come up with a one sheet newspaper before long.

Quite a discussion took place before the organization came to an agreement on those who would participate in making the newspaper.

The executive committee was given the power to set up news gathering members. They set the organization up in this way:

Editors, Tom Spettigue and Julia Leaverton; Reporters for the rooms: Mrs. Johnson's room, Barbara Shoop; Dr. Teeter's room, Sonny Yahn; Mrs. Davis' room, Lind Mullins; Mrs. Angus' room, Jerry Seyfang; Mrs. King's room, Jerry Hamby; Mrs. Prosch's room, Carl Anders; Miss Hughes' room, Nancy Graves, and Mr. Whiteside's room, Oleta Hilliards; Sports Reporter, Butch Conaway; Vital Statistics, Sharon Lynch, Weather report Jerry Phillips, Advertising, Sharon Penrod, Society Column, Linda Cottrell, Barbara Anthony; Type setters, Janet Curtis and Sue Henry; Cartoonist, Timmy Penwell; Lost and Found, Tom Baughn and Banner Line, Dick Detweiler.

Such a project as these children have accomplished so well thus far, in no way means that they have just learned to conduct a meeting. A few values otherwise are: (1) Learning to respect the views of a classmate. (2) Willingness to compromise (3) Using Democratic procedures. (4) Speaking in a clear voice. (5) Sharing time so that a few do not monopolize it.

River Rises Add To Cost Of New Dam

GREENUP, Ky., (AP) — U.S. engineers estimate that the ups and downs of the Ohio River the past month have added $48,000 to the cost of the building the new high level Greenup Dam.

The amount is a pittance compared with the 65 million dollar cost of the dam, but it will perhaps be increased by other floods before the project is completed, in 1959.

The contract with the United Construction Co., main contractor, reads that United will be paid $10,000 each time the coffer dam is flooded. In addition, the firm will receive $1,000 each day it is engaged in pumping and cleanup operations.

The coffer dam is the temporary closed barrier erected in a section of the river while the work on the main dam progresses in that section.

Feb. 19, the river spilled 200 million gallons of water into the coffer dam, for which the contractor received $10,000 plus $1,000 per day for 18 days of pumping and cleanup work.

March 9 the river again overflowed — $10,000 worth more. The river has remained high, delaying the work, but this time the contractor thinks only 10 days of pumping will be needed to do the cleanup job—total $48,000 — unless the river rises again.

Absentee Ballots Now Are Printed

Printing of the absentee ballots to be mailed from the Board of Elections here for use in the May 8 primaries was completed Monday, announced Harold McLean.

The ballots are "newspapers" this year, a single large sheet of paper each for the Republican and Democratic slates.

In the past, ballots have been printed on a number of small sheets, a separate one for each office and — of course — for each party's candidates.

Ballots to be used for the "home folks" have not yet been printed.

Double Theme At Songfest Next Friday

If the Songfesters stick to the theme, there will be green Easter eggs served Friday night.

Irish—for St. Patrick's Day—and Easter music will be featured at the singing get-together. This will be number 67 in a series of monthly Songfests, held at home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wipert on the Wilmington Road.

Meeting time for the sing session is 7:30 P. M.

Mrs. Wipert, who runs the Songfest, requested that those attending wear green, at the risk of a penalty. No definite penalty. Something might happen, Mrs. Wipert said.

Wear as much green, she added, as possible.

As has become the custom, there will be a candlelight sing with Mrs. Rex Pittenger officiating.

There will be a new birthday policy starting this month, Mrs. Wipert said. Those Songfesters with birthdays during the month of the meeting will be invited to make a contribution, either through a request or by doing a short bit of performing.

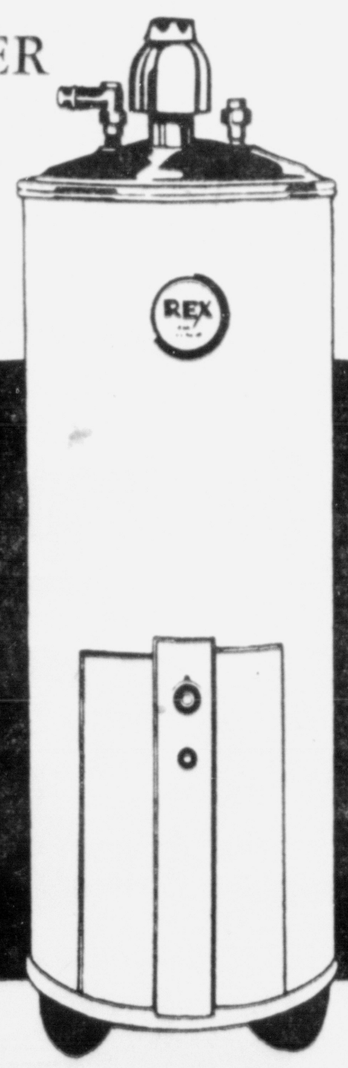

The policy will continue for the rest of this year and will run into next March.

As per usual instructions those attending are asked to bring finger-food. The public is invited as always.

We Can't Ask More Expense And Tax Cuts Too

Every voter in Fayette County, just like others over the country, is interested in lower taxes and elimination of rising expenses of government from federal down through state and local.

Yet how many of us are among those who while crying for and demanding certain things from government which require more taxes, are asking tax reduction.

This year, if nothing untoward occurs and if the federal treasury present anticipations prove correct, the federal government actually may show a record of spending a little less than it will receive from incoming revenue.

According to report the surplus will be a very modest one, but a surplus of any kind in federal government in the last 20 years, takes on e pressive look after so many years of deficits.

Two things can be done with this surplus if it shows up. It can be applied against the national debt, now straining at the legal limit. Or it can be used to reduce taxes.

The first alternative is favored by a number of respected leaders of both political parties, and by many top economists both within and without governmental circles. Sound fiscal policy, they feel, demands that substantial debt reduction precede any tax reduction. That course may be followed. But, at this time, the odds favor tax reduction—one compelling reason being that 1956 is an election year, and an appeal to the pocketbook is a powerful one.

However, it is one thing to advocate tax reduction as a principle—and a very different thing to specify just where and to what extent taxes are to be cut, and what groups are to be primarily benefited. And here the differences cut across the party lines, as they do nowadays in so many matters of high policy.

The basic difference is one of philosophy. Should tax reductions be geared principally to help the high-income families, the middle-income families, or the low-income families? This question, obviously, involves political as well as economic considerations.

An argument cited by some in Congress who favor reducing the top figures is that so little revenue is collected from high-bracket rates. A reduction in the top rate to as little as 50 percent (it is now 91 percent) official figures show, would cost the U. S. Treasury relatively little revenue. There is the contrasting argument—potent in an election year—that most taxpayers, and voters, are in the lower brackets and that they should get tax relief. Yet even a small cut from low-income families would create a tremendous drain on the U. S. Treasury. The reason is that there are so many taxpayers in this group.

In any event, the staff of the Congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation has produced, for the Committee's information, 19 different plans for reducing individual income taxes. These plans illustrate the difference in basic attitude toward tax reduction as a principle—as well as the many variances in relatively minor detail.

One plan, for instance, would cut taxes by a flat 10 percent—which would mean a $52 reduction for a four-member family with a $5,000 income, and $5,191 at the $100,000 level. Another would give $20 cuts for each taxpayer and dependent—that is, identical reductions no matter what the income bracket. Another would allow a $500 minimum deduction—which would give $3,000 families a $40 cut, but would give nothing to those with $5,000 or more. Another would cut all rates by two percent—and allow savings ranging from $12 for the $3,000 family to $1,952 for the $100,000 family.

The most important plan, it would seem, is that which, may be favored by the Eisenhower Administration if it decides in favor of tax relief. It provides a returning to the pre-Korean tax rates. Savings would be $20 at the $3,000 level; $231 at $10,000, $792 at $25,000 and $6,269 at $100,000. President Eisenhower's top tax advisors have insisted that, when tax-cutting time comes, the nation should 'climb down the tax ladder the same way we came up'."

A Roaring Hellion, Age 2½

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Have you ever had an ogre in your house?

My wife, Frances, and I have one dwelling with us now. She is a little old lady 2½ years old, our daughter, Tracy Ann.

Actual parenthood reverses your own concept of children, and your memories of your own childhood.

I had always thought of children as fairly stable little animals (marred only by an open passion for dirt) at least until they enter kindergarten. Only then, I felt, would they reach an age to have their hearts broken, and rebel against the chafing harness of this world.

It seems I was wrong. Little girls get to be little women much earlier in life than I realized.

When Tracy was 2, a veteran mother visiting us looked at her and sighed:

"I feel so sorry for you. You don't know what comes next. Tracy is such a little angel now. But in another half year she will turn into a regular little ogre."

"Oh, no. Not Tracy Ann!"

"Oh, yes. Even Tracy Ann. All children are simply baby beasts when they get to be 2½. Both my children acted that way. I don't know what gets into them."

I'm afraid I acted a bit smug later after our neighbor mother had left.

"Why do people who have trouble raising their own hellions always assume your child is going to be a hellion, too?"

"Well, she may be right," replied Frances cautiously. "All the baby books agree with her."

It appears that at 2½ all children really do go through the first great mystic change of life. They cease to be babies and begin to become human beings, and it is a great and emotional struggle.

I feel that I am an authority on the subject, as Tracy Ann, who is now about 2 years and 9 months, is just showing signs of emerging from this trying and difficult period.

The child is ridden by new obsessions and groping emotions and fresh fears. It doesn't know quite what it wants, and doesn't quite want what it knows. It is a small, lonely being undergoing a tremendous transition, and the old lollipop doesn't offer its former consolation.

Tracy, who had been all angel, became alternately an angel and an ogre, laughing one moment and crying the next. If crossed in any way, she would turn the smallest issue into another Alamo.

She was absolutely unpredictable. For a week she refused to try on a pretty new dress. But, once she had it on, she broke into a big storm when we wouldn't let her wear it to bed.

One of the chores she likes is to carry in a medicine bottle, open it, and put my breakfast pill in my mouth. Most people in New York City over 40 take from three to six pills or capsules a day. One morning, being in a hurry, I took the pill without her help. Tracy immediately got to be trying to see how much down on the floor on her hands and knees and wet the rug with a torrent of tears.

Her small misdemeanors multiplied. She seemed deliberately she could get away with. Never again. I learned I had to kid her out of a wrong attitude. The mere threat of punishment turned her into another Joan of Arc, daring you to put her to the stake.

Once, in exasperation, I exclaimed to my wife, "I feel sorry for her husband. He's going to have some stubborn times."

"Why do you always talk of this child as if she were going to get married the very next moment?"

"Well, she already acts more like a grownup woman than anybody I know."

"I'm not sure," said Frances, "that I like that remark."

Political Corruption Inquiries

By George Sokolsky

One of the most hopeful signs that our republic is surviving as such is that the public is still suspicious that its officials may succumb to corruption. However, just to pick on gas-corrupted senators is shortselling the problem, which is so complex that nobody can quite know by what investigative process any committee can discover the under-the-table contributions that are or have been made to politicians by businessmen, labor leaders, special committees or even communists.

It is now well known that when the American Labor party was organized in New York State, it not only functioned as a communist ally of the Democratic party but that a small and effective cell was established in the Republican party. That cell has now proliferated and is very powerful in New York State and it is well-heeled, as the expression goes. Senator McClellan might look into that situation, now having the excuse that he is trying to discover under-the-table contributions to senators or prospective senators.

One hears stories. Naturally there are no means, without the power of subpoena and a force of detectives, to know whether the stories are wholly true. For instance, I do not believe that Senator Francis Case's story is exactly as he tells it because it does not ring true, but I have no proof one way or the other. It will undoubtedly come out sooner or later that just as there is a natural gas lobby, so there is an antinatural gas lobby and if one gang is spending money, the othe gang is spending money and an investigation should bring that out, too. Then maybe those senators who have a reputation of being paragons of virtue will turn out to have campaign funds too, to which their friends and even strangers contribute, under-the-table as well as otherwise.

Candidates can, of course, say that they do not know who contributes to their campaign funds, that they do not scrutinize the lists, that they do not check each name and certainly that they never heard of under-the-table contributions? Senatr McClellan might investigate an almost perfect example of that sort of thing, involving the defeat of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, a leading Democrat and a great liberal in his day. He was defeated by money sent into Montana from New York and subsequently a similar attempt was made to defeat the late Senator Pat McCarran by the same corruption.

It would be of value to get at a pattern because this seems clear that if politicians take under-the-table money, it is not to indulge themselves in licentious living but to have the wherewithal to remain in office, which every year becomes increasingly expensive. The problem then is to get at election costs which are all out of line in relationship to the salaries paid and the amount of time an elected official has to give to the job and to being re-elected. To a degree, the process of being re-elected is continuous for some public officials who come from highly competitive and unstable areas where they have to show themselves constantly, sit on daises at public dinners, attend wakes and Bar Mitzvas, buy tickets for innumberable charities, including many fake but popular affairs, and just keep their names alive by making the silliest statements such as even a television gag-writer would be ashamed to acknowledge.

All this costs money and unless one comes into politics with inherited money or after he has managed to accumulate large sums honestly or anywise, it is a very tough racket and particularly hard on the women-folk.

One of the most lucrative ways of getting on is to make a freak of oneself on the Senate floor and then go lecturing at $1,500 a lecture. This involves no work, except travel. It is possible to become popular with some particular group and then their societies all over the country arrange such lectures. It is an indirect subsidy and cannot be called a campaign fund and breaks no law.

So, exactly what is going to be investigated and what will it prove? Mostly that if a guy goes into public life without much money, he has to get some. The best way is to marry a rich wife.

Nephrosis Victims Usually Very Young

We don't know the cause, we have no sure cure, and the outcome in any one patient is completely unpredictable. There is not much publicity given the disease, either, although about half of the victims die.

Strikes Children

Nephrosis usually strikes children between the ges of one and a half and three and a half years. Infants and older children, even adults, sometimes are victims.

Boys are affected more frequently than girls. The disease attacks all races and occurs in all climates, too. We have no evidence that it is hereditary.

While various body functions are affected, the primary concern is for the disturbed kidney function. Generally, the disease runs for several years. But sudden remissions and recovery sometimes occur. We don't know why.

Follows Infections

Nephrosis sometimes follows infections elsewhere in the body, such as diphtheria, tuberculosis, pneumonia and syphilis. It begins gradually, sometimes with a period of weeks or months in which the victim feels listless and is in vague ill health.

The first indication of childhood nephrosis usually is a swelling around the eyes, especially in the morning. Frequently the puffiness disappears by afternoon. At this stage it is difficult to detect the disease. Unless a urine examination is made, a doctor might not even suspect nephrosis.

The swelling increases as the illness progresses, becoming evident in the feet and abdomen. Eventually, the entire body becomes swollen.

Uneven Course

Nephrosis does not run an evn course. The swelling may disappear only to return again after a lapse of a few days, weeks or even months.

Even blood and urine tests may give perfectly normal results during these periods of remission. But recurrences are frequent.

If the tests are negative for as long as six months, however, the victim probably is cured.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A Reader: Why are persons with ulcers in most cases forbidden to drink and smoke?

Answer: Since smoking and the drinking of alcoholic beverages act as a stimulant for the secretions of hydrochloric acid and other digestive juices, they may perpetuate and even increase the symptoms of the ulcer.

WASHINGTON (AP)—For months you will be reading about arguments among members of Congress, and between members of Congress and officials of the Eisenhower administration, on how much foreign aid this country should provide.

If you have trouble trying to decide from all that's said who's right, you can take some comfort from the thought that Congress will be in the same dilemma.

Just try to visualize $4,860,000,000 in the form of modern weapons, food, loans, grants, and technical advisers in such varied fields as sanitation and crop raising.

That's the amount, and the kind, of foreign aid program President Eisenhower Monday asked Congress to approve. It all wouldn't be spent in one year. Some would go for planning ahead.

Then try to figure out whether the countries to which Eisenhower wants to give this aid really need all that, or less, and, if less, how much less.

About the best you could do would be to guess, and hope the guess was good. That's just about what Congress will have to do.

Eisenhower starts out with at least one strike on him. Congress, as usual, will try to trim his request, and no doubt will.

Earlier this month some administration officials were saying privately: Eisenhower will be lucky to wind up with congressional approval of 3½ billion dollars instead of the almost five billion which he asked for.

Eisenhower asked Congress to give him limited authority to make commitments to other countries on the amount of foreign aid, and the kind, they can expect for up to as much as 10 years.

That's another snag. There's a lot of hostility in Congress against agreeing to a foreign aid program that would last 10 years. There's some screaming about any further foreign aid.

Congress, of course, won't make up its mind entirely by guessing. It will be able to question administration officials on why they think almost five billion dollars is needed. All this will make a lot of headlines, but perhaps not much light.

When it makes its final decision Congress had better make a good guess for a pretty obvious reason: the Russians are doing something now they weren't doing when the Truman administration began this country's first huge foreign aid program under the name of the Marshall Plan back in the late 1940s.

At that time, when the Russians couldn't think of anything better, they were being disagreeable and keeping their money at home. Now they've switched: they're all smiles and offering economic help.

This puts them directly into competition with the United States in the field of foreign aid. The Russians and the Americans may look to Asians and the Arabs in the Middle East like suitors bringing gifts.

In short, there's some bidding going on. But Eisenhower says this country isn't going to match every Soviet move with an American promise, or, as he puts it: "we do not intend to permit specific Soviet moves to control our activities."

Russia Pays Half On Downed Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States disclosed today that Russia has paid $724,947 as half the cost of a Navy Neptune plane shot down by Soviet fighters over the Bering Sea last June.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White said this marks the first time Russia or any of its satellites ever has paid for planes knocked down in a number of air incidents since World War II.

While agreeing to accept half of the total claimed damages, the United States held to its contention that the Soviet attack was "unprovoked" and took place while the Neptune was flying in international airspace.

We Can't Ask More Expense And Tax Cuts Too

Every voter in Fayette County, just like others over the country, is interested in lower taxes and elimination of rising expenses of government from federal down through state and local.

Yet how many of us are among those who while crying for and demanding certain things from government which require more taxes, are asking tax reduction.

This year, if nothing untoward occurs and if the federal treasury present anticipations prove correct, the federal government actually may show a record of spending a little less than it will receive from incoming revenue.

According to report the surplus will be a very modest one, but a surplus of any kind in federal government in the last 20 years, takes on a impressive look after so many years of deficits.

Two things can be done with this surplus if it shows up. It can be applied against the national debt, now straining at the legal limit. Or it can be used to reduce taxes.

The first alternative is favored by a number of respected leaders of both political parties, and by many top economists both within and without governmental circles. Sound fiscal policy, they feel, demands that substantial debt reduction precede any tax reduction. That course may be followed. But, at this time, the odds favor tax reduction—one compelling reason being that 1956 is an election year, and an appeal to the pocketbook is a powerful one.

However, it is one thing to advocate tax reduction as a principle—and a very different thing to specify just where and to what extent taxes are to be cut, and what groups are to be primarily benefited. And here the differences cut across the party lines, as they do nowadays in so many matters of high policy.

The basic difference is one of philosophy. Should tax reductions be geared principally to help the high-income families, the middle-income families, or the low-income families? This question, obviously, involves political as well as economic considerations.

An argument cited by some in Congress who favor reducing the top figures is that so little revenue is collected from high-bracket rates. A reduction in the top rate to as little as 50 percent (it is now 91 percent) official figures show, would cost the U. S. Treasury relatively little revenue. There is the contrasting argument—potent in an election year—that most taxpayers, and voters, are in the lower brackets and that they should get tax relief. Yet even a small cut from low-income families would create a tremendous drain on the U. S. Treasury. The reason is that there are so many taxpayers in this group.

In any event, the staff of the Congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation has produced, for the Committee's information, 19 different plans for reducing individual income taxes. These plans illustrate the difference in basic attitude toward tax reduction as a principle—as well as the many variances in relatively minor detail.

One plan, for instance, would cut taxes by a flat 10 percent—which would mean a $52 reduction for a four-member family with a $5,000 income, and $5,191 at the $100,000 level. Another would give $20 cuts for each taxpayer and dependent—that is, identical reductions no matter what the income bracket. Another would allow a $500 minimum deduction—which would give $3,000 families a $40 cut, but would give nothing to those with $5,000 or more. Another would cut all rates by two percent—and allow savings ranging from $12 for the $3,000 family to $1,952 for the $100,000 family.

The most important plan, it would seem, is that which, may be favored by the Eisenhower Administration if it decides in favor of tax relief. It provides a returning to the pre-Korean tax rates. Savings would be $20 at the $3,000 level; $231 at $10,000, $792 at $25,000 and $6,269 at $100,000. Then try to figure out whether the countries to which Eisenhower wants to give this aid really need all that, or less, and, if less, how much less.

About the best you could do would be to guess, and hope the guess was good. That's just about what Congress will have to do.

Eisenhower starts out with at least one strike on him. Congress, as usual, will try to trim his request, and no doubt will.

Earlier this month some administration officials were saying privately: Eisenhower will be lucky to wind up with congressional approval of 3½ billion dollars instead of the almost five billion which he asked for.

Eisenhower asked Congress to give him limited authority to make commitments to other countries on the amount of foreign aid, and the kind, they can expect for up to as much as 10 years.

That's another snag. There's a lot of hostility in Congress against agreeing to a foreign aid program that would last 10 years. There's some screaming about any further foreign aid.

Congress, of course, won't make up its mind entirely by guessing. It will be able to question administration officials on why they think almost five billion dollars is needed. All this will make a lot of headlines, but perhaps not much light.

When it makes its final decision Congress had better make a good guess for a pretty obvious reason: the Russians are doing something now they weren't doing when the Truman administration began this country's first huge foreign aid program under the name of the Marshall Plan back in the late 1940s.

At that time, when the Russians couldn't think of anything better, they were being disagreeable and keeping their money at home. Now they've switched: they're all smiles and offering economic help.

This puts them directly into competition with the United States in the field of foreign aid. The Russians and the Americans may look to Asians and the Arabs in the Middle East like suitors bringing gifts.

In short, there's some bidding going on. But Eisenhower says this country isn't going to match every Soviet move with an American promise, or, as he puts it: "we do not intend to permit specific Soviet moves to control our activities."

Russia Pays Half On Downed Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States disclosed today that Russia has paid $724,947 as half the cost of a Navy Neptune plane shot down by Soviet fighters over the Bering last June.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White said this marks the first time Russia or any of its satellites ever has paid for planes knocked down in a number of air incidents since World War II.

While agreeing to accept half of the total claimed damages, the United States held to its contention that the Soviet attack was "unprovoked" and took place while the Neptune was flying in international airspace.

Election Chiefs Worry About Voter Apathy

Big Cities Report Registrations Fall Off From '52 Figure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio election officials show increasing concern over voter apathy in this presidential election year.

Reports to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown indicate registrations have fallen off since the 1952 election in counties requiring voters to qualify before receiving ballots in the primary next May 8.

Deadline for registration in the 37 counties requiring it falls next Wednesday, March 28. Registration is required automatically in all cities of 16,000 or more population.

Voters registrations are good for two calendar years. It works out like this:

If you voted in 1952 or 1953 but haven't voted since, you won't be able to vote in the May primaries unless you register again where registration is required. Registrations for those who voted in 1954 still are good this year.

Reports from Dayton said registrations in Montgomery County have hit the lowest level since 1946.

Registrations have increased recently in Cuyahoga and Mahoning counties but still are well below 1952 totals on the basis of reports from Cleveland and Youngstown.

Cuyahoga County figures showed 1,241 new registrations for the first half of March against 808 for a comparable period four years ago. But officials said total registrations stood at only 546,800 compared with a record high of 763,513 before the 1952 general election.

Mahoning County officials said registrations currently are on the increase but that they still are some 1,500 below four years ago. Last week's total hit 115,555, compared with about 117,000 in March 1952.

Figures generally were lacking but Brown said reports indicated that registrations are down in most areas.

"I am deeply concerned," Brown said, "because reports from boards of election show people are not registered to vote in this important primary.

"Party candidates are chosen in the primary and, therefore, it is more important to vote in the primary than in the general election" next Nov. 6, the state's chief election official asserted.

A total of 1,535,055 Ohioans voted in the 1952 primaries. That was the year Harold Stassen, former Minnesota governor, challenged the late Sen. Robert A. Taft for delegates to the Republican National Convention. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee challenged the Democratic state organization for delegates to that party's presidential nominating convention at the same time.

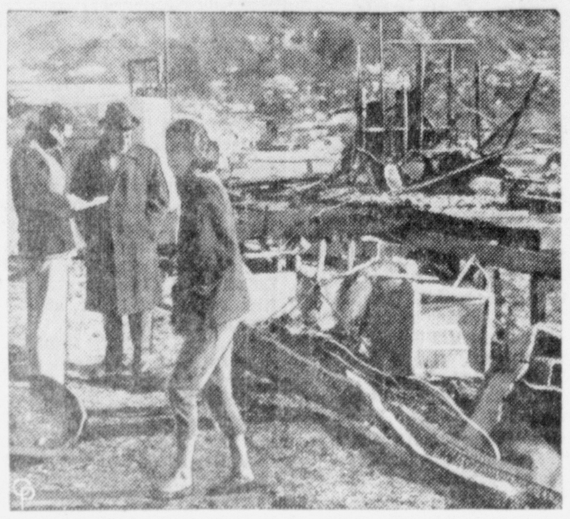

Voting always falls off in non-presidential election years. The 1954 primary total was 869,222.

Brown figures that Ohio's potential voters have increased by 125,000 in recent years to about 5,800,000. He based his figures on an estimated 8,720,000 population for the state.

The gain in potential voters results from residents reaching 21 years of age and those who moved into Ohio and attained the year's residence requirement by election time, he explained. Voters also must live in their county and precinct for 40 days to be eligible to case primary ballots.

Young citizens who will turn 21 before the Nov. 6 general election can register and vote in the May primaries.

Ohioans who have changed their names by marriage, divorce or otherwise since their last registration must re-register with election boards in person to become eligible to vote. Those who have moved can re-register by mail.

At 93, Actress Busy On Job; Attending Night School Too

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Adeline de-Walt Reynolds can recall as a girl seeing soldiers pass her Iowa farm, en route home from the Civil War.

Today at 93, she's still performing in movies and must certainly be the world's oldest regularly employed actress.

"People think you're supposed to fold up because you've passed the 90 mark," she says. "I don't believe in that."

She backs up her words by leading an active life. She goes to night school twice weekly to learn Spanish, because she feels anyone who lives in California should know that language.

She also does roles in movies and TV films, her most notable one recently being "The 10 Commandments."

"I was one of the children of Israel crossing the Red Sea," she recalled in her Hollywood bungalow. "They gave me a tall, weak-looking actor and said he would help me cross. He was so weak I had to help him across!"

Mrs. Reynolds' remarkable life began in 1862 on her parents' farm near Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Her earliest memory is of the Union soldiers passing nearby.

"My father, believed in slavery," she remarked, "so he said 'I don't want you feeding those damned Republicans.' When he was home, I would only give the soldiers water. But when he was gone, my mother would make sandwiches, and I would hand them over the fence to the passing men."

She married a magician who "trotted off to heaven" when their four children were still young. Mrs. Reynolds settled with her brood in Berkeley, Calif., and went into secretarial business in San Francisco. She applied for insurance on her office, but the salesman dissuaded her, knowing how little money she had. He told her the building was absolutely fireproof. It was gutted by the 1906 earthquake-caused fire.

Mrs. Reynolds managed to rear her children and sent them out into the world. Then she decided to do the things she had always wanted. She enrolled at the University of California at 64 and graduated with high honors.

"Then I decided to try acting," she said. "I had always wanted to be an actress, but on the stage. Movies had never interested me particularly, though I did like to see that Englishman who played Disraeli (George Arliss) and that very French Frenchman (Maurice Chevalier).

"My trouble was that I was broke. So I decided to try the movies to earn enough money to go to New York."

She visited top agents in Hollywood and was "practically thrown out of their offices." Finally she found one who would handle her. She started her acting career at 77 in "Come Live With Me" with James Stewart and Hedy Lamarr.

Rabies Season Is Approaching

Dog Pack Danger Is Cited By Sanitarian

Rabies season is approaching again.

So warns Sanitarian John Todd of the Fayette County Health Department.

"While rabies is known to occur the year around," says Todd, "it is frequently a seasonal disease in both animals and man. During the months of March, April and May, dogs frequently band together and travel about in groups. Due perhaps to this habit of dogs, rabies is being reported in areas adjacent to this county."

"Rabies is a disease of animals and man which has been recognized since antiquity. Its cause is a virus which attacks the central nervous system of the animal or person affected.

"This virus in an infected host is found in the saliva, which accounts for the fact that an individual bitten by a rabid animal all too frequently is infected. Almost any warm-blooded animal may become infected with rabies. It is particularly prevalent in dogs, cats, foxes, rodents and less often in cows, horses and swine.

"The disease in animals assumes one of two forms. The animal may develop "dumb" rabies or the "furious" type of the disease. Paralysis and death invariably result in either form.

"Rabies is the one disease known from which a man or animal developing the disease never recovers; it is always fatal. Development of the disease in man can be prevented by the use of anti-rabies serum if given in sufficient time. Since most rabies in man is transmitted from a dog, control measures of the disease are directly dependent upon the prevention in the animal. This is best accomplished by wide-spread vaccination of all dogs against rabies. The Health Department of this county strongly urges all dog owners to have their own animals immunized each year.

"UNFORTUNATELY, even a wide-spread vaccination program will fail to reach the stray dog population of any area. It therefore follows that some intelligent control of this stray dog population becomes mandatory. The best method of control of stray animals is the corralling and humane destruction of dogs. Control of the stray dog population is properly the function of the county dog warden.

It should be pointed out that any animal known to have bitten a person should not be destroyed. Instead, such an animal should be placed under confinement and observation for a period of at least 10 days.

"If the animal during that observation period develops any symptoms of rabies (diagnosed by a veterinarian) the animal should be killed and its head sent to the laboratory of the Ohio Department of Health for further examination. If such further examination discloses Negri bodies in the brain, that animal has had rabies and any individual bitten by it should immediately receive anti-rabies serum.

"It is important that a dog biting a person not be destroyed, but be allowed to live long enough for a definite positive or negative diagnosis to be made. Children should be advised against petting or othewise playing with strange dogs."

The marriage of Miss Mary Lou Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Craig of this city, and Mr. Cyril J. Zenisek, son of Mr. Frank Zenisek, of Shaker Heights and the late Mrs. Zenisek was solemnized Saturday morning in St. Colman's Church.

Father Richard W. Connelly conducted the double ring ceremony and decorations in the church were white pedestal vases of white gladioli, lilies and greenery, softly lighted with white tapers in seven branch candelabra.

Miss Margaret McDonald, organist, presented the music for the ceremony performed at 11:30 A. M.

Mrs. Craig, mother of the bride, chose a taupe taffeta afternoon dress, with high neckline and pleated skirt, black accessories and her corsage was pink carnations.

Following the wedding a reception was held in Parish Hall at the church and the bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with the traditional bride and groom, flanked with white tapers and Mrs. Doyle Stoner of Columbus, sister of the bride presided over the silver service.

For their wedding trip to Chicago, the bride wore a copper and black brocade dress with black accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of Washington C. H. High School, in the class of 1953, and Franklin Business College, Columbus, in 1955 is employed at the B and Z Building at Ohio State University.

WHS Band Concert Rehearsals Now in Final Phase

BOYS AND GIRLS--105 OF THEM--who make up the Washington C. H. High School Band wear blue jeans to the closing practices (TOP PICTURE) for the annual Spring concert Thursday and Friday. But they will present a different ensemble when they are all dressed up in their white trimmed blue uniforms (BOTTOM PICTURE) and take their places on the same stage.
(Record-Herald photos)

Finishing touching are now being put on the 16-number, two-part concert the Washington C. H. High School Band is to present in the high school auditorium Thursday and Friday nights.

Rehearsals have been shifted from the last period of school in the day to evenings, and from the band room to the auditorium for the polishing up processes.

This will be the eighth concert by the WHS band under the direction of William B. Clift, the head of the school's music department. And, he said, with fingers crossed, that he thought this would be the best concert ever given by the band here.

A 25-year record of progress and steady improvement supports Clift in his expectation; for the band has come a long way since it was first organized by Karl J. Kay.

This will be the biggest band ever to give a concert here. The increase in size won't be much, but Clift said none of the bands had been over 100 pieces until this year's 105-piece band came up.

For 28 of the 105 boys and girls in the band, this will be their last concert, perhaps the last time they will play with the band which has come to be so much a part of their lives.

* * *

THREE OF THESE 28 have been in the band for six years, six for five years, twelve for four years, four for three years and three for two years.

Now that the junior high school band is taking definite form, fewer and fewer members of the Varsity will have more than four years in it when they are graduated.

In listing their ambitions and plans for the days after graduation from WHS—they all are virtually certain to get diplomas because they are required to meet scholastic standards—the girls show a preference for nursing and nearly all of them express a desire to go to college. Seven of the boys take a realistic outlook and say simply that they expect to go into the armed forces when they get out of high school.

The seniors, the instruments they play, the number of years they have been in the band and their plans for the future are:

Bob English, drum major, 4 yrs., Navy;

Nancy Stephenson, French horn 3 yrs., OSU for Home Economics;

Charlene Engle, piccolo and flute, 4 yrs., Nurse's Training;

Margaret Campbell, piccolo and Flute, 4 yrs., OSU, Arts and Science;

Lora Lee Yahn, clarinet, 4 yrs., Airline Hostess School;

Peggy Snyder, clarinet, 5 yrs., College for library work;

Marilyn Writsel, clarinet, 4 yrs., OSU Home Ec.

Linda Shelley, clarinet, 5 yrs., Stenographer;

Sharon Neff, bassoon, 4 yrs., Nursing at Cleveland;

Barbara Gilmore, clarinet, 3 yrs., Nursing at Springfield;

Marquieta Smith, bass clarinet, 3 yrs., OSU School of Music;

Mary Ann Carr, alto saxophone, 4 yrs., Nursing at Cincinnati;

Paul Hughes, alto saxophone, 4 yrs., Armed Services;

John McWilliams, bassoon, 4 yrs., Miami University;

Bob Crouse, snare drums, 5 yrs., medicine;

Betty Whitten, snare drums, 5 yrs., Secretarial Work;

Jackie Lightle, French horn, 3 yrs., Nursing at Springfield;

John Bryant, President, trumpet, 6 yrs., Armed Services;

Larry Bishop, cornet, 6 yrs., Armed Services;

Don Parrett, trumpet, 6 yrs. Pharmacy at Ohio Northern;

Alford Carr, trumpet, 2 yrs., Agriculture at OSU;

Nancy Merritt, trombone, 4 yrs., Nursing at Miami Valley;

Roger DeWees, trombone, 5 yrs., Navy;

Michael Arnold, trombone, 2 yrs., OSU for Accounting;

Warren Craig, baritone, 5 yrs., Ohio State University;

Donn Crissinger, Sousaphone, 4 yrs., Ohio State University;

Dave Pettit, Sousaphone, 4 yrs., Armed Services;

Robert Detweiler, Sousaphone, 2 yrs., Marines.

THE PROGRAM for this year's concert is marked by variety, as have been the programs of previous years. It is to be presented in two parts, with eight numbers in each part.

The marches, which always lend themselves to band performance so well, account for only four of the numbers. The program also will have its novelties, such as "Uncle Tom's Cabin," with John McWilliams as the narrator; its classical numbers, such as the waltz from "Eugene Onegin" by Tschaiowsky; its popular music with such as "A Fantasy in Color" combining "Deep Purple," "Autumn Serenade," Royal Blue" and "White Orchids;" its instrumental trios and solos.

After several years in which many were unable to get into the auditorium for the single performance, the band started giving the concert on two nights—and capacity audiences on both nights.

Reserved seats are now available at Patton's Book Store and there are still a few good seats left.

Girdling Of Tree To Cost $3,000

WILMINGTON (AP) — A jury in Clinton County common pleas court awarded $3,000 last night to the Sugar Grove Cemetery Assn. fora tree that was killed by girdling in 1954.

The association sued Elon Farren of Near Wilmington for $5,000, charging that he destroyed the tree in 1954.

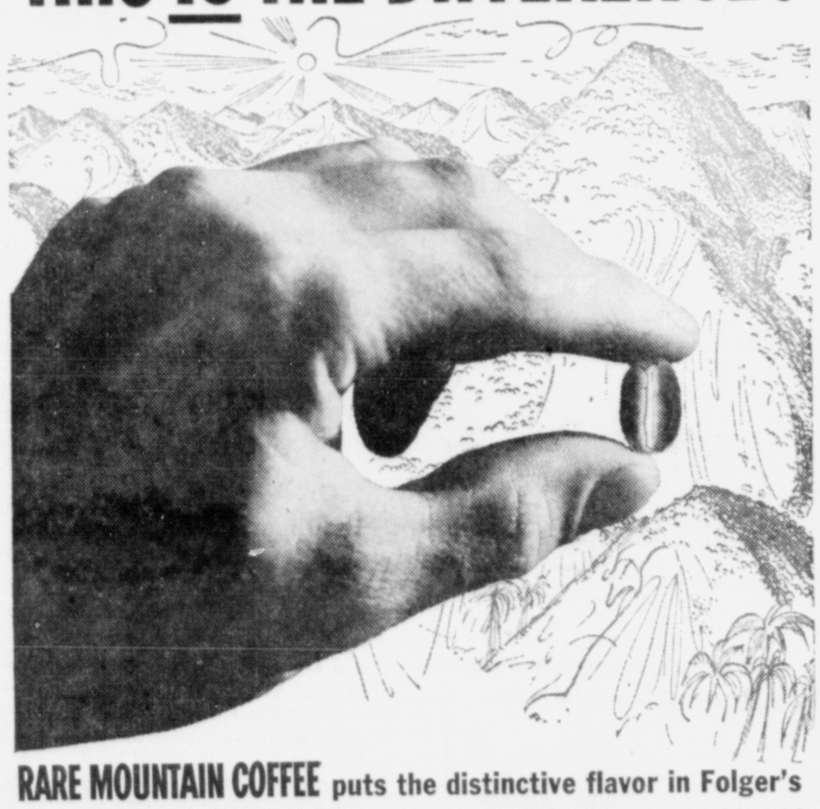

In February, 1955, Farren was found guilty of killing the tree, fined $500 and sentenced to five days in jail. His appeal from the verdict is still pending.

5 Tall (6-3) Boys Selected For All-Ohio Class B Team

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The toughest all-star team in the country to "make"—The Associated Press Class B high school All Ohio basketball squad—today boasted five seniors who average 6-3 in height and 155.3 in scoring.

Headed by Yorkville's sensational Henry Josefczyk who averaged 41.3, the dream team has everything, including height, speed, scoring strength and defensive ability.

Hundreds of coaches, newspapermen and broadcasters cast votes as the stars were selected from the more than 15,000 youngsters on the state's 724 smaller school squads. The ratings are based on pre-tournament games winding up with the March 3 program.

The majority of the talent has put away its uniforms for the season, most of the hot-shots being among the 720 squads sidelined in the lose-and-out series leading to the state title.

Only three of the first 15 will be on hand Friday when the semi-finals are played in Cleveland. They are Gary Kesler, 6-9 center for unbeaten Willshire, whose all-around play and 34.6 average put him on the first team, and Ken Lauterer of Chagrin Falls and Dave Barker of Columbus St. Mary, who made the third team with averages of better than 21.

Jim Hamilton, Glenford's mighty mite, is the only little fellow on the first team. He stands only 5-7, but his 23.6 scoring average and his defensive and play - making ability earned him a guard berth alongside Ed Nicol of Marysville. Kesler and Josefczyk were named at forward, and Olney's sensational Bob Kimball at center.

Josefczyk led the voting and won the first team captaincy. The second team leadership went to John Mandish of Leetonia, and the third team captaincy to Barker.

Kesler, an all-Ohio and all-tournament star last year, led Willshire to the 1955 state finals against Lockland Wayne. The title loss to Wayne is the lone defeat on Willshire's record in the last 57 starts.

The selections:

The Associated Press 1955-56 Class B All-Ohio High School Basketball Team

Player, School	Age	Ht.
Gary Kesler, Willshire	18	6-9
Henry Josefczyk, Yorkville	18	6-5
Bob Kimball, Olney	17	6-1
Ed Nicol, Marysville	18	6-4
Jim Hamilton, Glenford	17	5-7

Second Team: Dave Barr, Pleasantville; Marlo Mills, Liberty Union; John Mandish, Leetonia; Roland Bolds, Lockland Wayne; Glen Sibcy, Wayne (Butler).

Third Team: Curt Juergens, Troy - Luckey; Clyde Evans, Rio Grande; Ken Lauterer, Chagrin; Bruce Plaskett, North Lima; Dave Barker, Columbus St. Mary.

Chemically Stored Sunlight Is Released In Atmosphere

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Air Research and Development Command reports its scientists have found a way of freeing "chemically stored sunlight" in the earth's atmosphere.

Eventually, the announcement said, the experiments may lead to a means of extracting this stored energy for such uses as the propulsion of rocket ships high in the atmosphere.

Terming the discovery a "major breakthrough," ARDC headquarters here said it took place at the Holloman Air Development Center in New Mexico.

Under direction of Dr. Murray Zelikoff, scientists found in the laboratory that energy locked in atomic oxygen could be released by adding nitric oxide, a gas, the announcement said.

Nitric oxide, it said, has the property of bringing two oxygen atoms together to form an oxygen molecule and release light. The light is actually sunlight which has been stored chemically in oxygen atoms.

To test the laboratory discovery the ARDC said, a rocket was sent 60 miles aloft from Holloman. It released nitric oxide gas under high pressure into the atmosphere.

A flood of light resulted. In less than 10 minutes, the announcement said, the light had grown in size so that it seemed from the earth to be about four times the diameter of the moon.

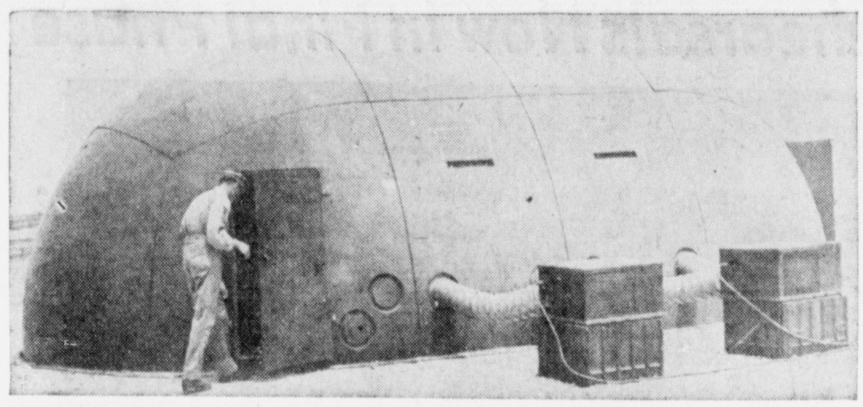

The spot of light spread to about three miles in width before the nitric oxide gas thinned out and the brightness dimmed, the ARDC said.

CHEERLEADER Beverly Klambt of Connecticut seems to be stepping on the head of the sideline photog here but actually she's leaping for joy as her team downed Manhattan in the N.C.A.A. regional play in New York. (International)

Woman Frowning On Idea Of Husband Running House

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

There's more and more talk these days about how men are doing the housework in America and women are taking on such chores as mowing the lawn and fixing the plumbing.

This all sounds fine in print, but in actual practice it's a little frightening.

Now let's take that business about Pop doing the marketing. Whenever this happens in our family, the man of the house comes back laden with such things as caviar, pate de foie gras, truffles and club soda, but no bacon, eggs or potatoes. He has spent twice as much as the usual order costs, and still acquired little from which to fix a meal.

Or he decides to go out and select personally the steak he is going to broil on the outdoor grill. This becomes a high adventure.

He comes back with a choice steak, it's true. But usually it is twice as big as he needs and its cost runs into astronomical figures.

When the time for cooking nears, the male chef becomes a prima donna. He fusses over the fire for what seems hours, and then when it reaches a state that is to his liking, he barks orders for salt, pepper, butter, fork, tongs, barbecue sauce and carving board—like a surgeon in the operating room.

In our household it requires at least two assistants to supply the necessary service, have the plates hot, the salad cold and the coffee brewed at the psychological moment.

When the meal is served, it is superb. Guests applaud, and Pop glows in the general aura of approbation.

While this goes on, the women of the family are trying to mop up, repair other ravages in the kitchen and wash a young mountain of dishes, pots and pans.

Such experiences have taught most wives that it sounds like a fine idea to have the husband help with the housework and it's great for his ego; but things are a lot simpler if you do it yourself.

5 Tall (6-3) Boys Selected For All-Ohio Class B Team

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The toughest all-star team in the country to "make"—The Associated Press Class B high school All Ohio basketball squad—today boasted five seniors who average 6-3 in height and 155.3 in scoring.

Headed by Yorkville's sensational Henry Josefczyk who averaged 41.3, the dream team has everything, including height, speed, scoring strength and defensive ability.

Hundreds of coaches, newspapermen and broadcasters cast votes as the stars were selected from the more than 15,000 youngsters on the state's 724 smaller school squads. The ratings are based on pre-tournament games winding up with the March 3 program.

The majority of the talent has put away its uniforms for the season, most of the hot-shots being among the 720 squads sidelined in the lose-and-out series leading to the state title.

Only three of the first 15 will be on hand Friday when the semi-finals are played in Cleveland. They are Gary Kesler, 6-9 center for unbeaten Willshire, whose all-around play and 34.6 average put him on the first team, and Ken Lauterer of Chagrin Falls and Dave Barker of Columbus St. Mary, who made the third team with averages of better than 21.

Jim Hamilton, Glenford's mighty mite, is the only little fellow on the first team. He stands only 5-7, but his 23.6 scoring average and his defensive and play - making ability earned him a guard berth alongside Ed Nicol of Marysville. Kesler and Josefczyk were named at forward, and Olney's sensational Bob Kimball at center.

Josefczyk led the voting and won the first team captaincy. The second team leadership went to John Mandish of Leetonia, and the third team captaincy to Barker.

Kesler, an all-Ohio and all-tournament star last year, led Willshire to the 1955 state finals against Lockland Wayne. The title loss to Wayne is the lone defeat on Willshire's record in the last 57 starts.

The selections:

Objective Of NCAA Finalists Is To Mow Down Frisco '5'

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Three college basketball powers have but one objective in the NCAA finals beginning Thursday—to beat San Francisco's defending champions.

Only two, however, will get the opportunity. The first will be Southern Methodist's Mustangs and the other, if the Mustangs fail to pull the upset of the year, will be the winner of the Iowa-Temple game.

It's only natural that the Dons are marked men. They're riding the crest of a 53-game winning streak and are unbeaten in 27 games this season.

They've also been the No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll from the outset and in some quarters have been acclaimed the greatest college team of all time.

At the moment, Iowa appears to have the best chance of upsetting San Francisco. The Hawkeyes, 80-62 victors over Southern Methodist early in the season, have put together a 16-game winning string in grabbing the always hard-to-get Big Ten championship for a second straight year.

Iowa has a veteran team that has had a taste of NCAA competition, finishing fourth in last year's tournament. And the Hawkeyes are a defensive-minded club which can hold its own offensively.

Although the Hawks have no one player who can compare with San Francisco's Bill Russell, Iowa does have balance. No one Iowa player is anywhere near the nation's top scorers. Nor do the Hawkeyes have an all-America standout.

But Iowa's Carl Cain, Bill Logan, Bill Schoof, Sharm Sheuerman and Bill Seaberg know how to play together.

Like Iowa, Temple relies on team rather than individual effort. The Owls at one time put together a 20-game winning string and go into the finals with a 26-3 record. Temple's kingpins are Hal Lear and Guy Rodgers. Ranked 15th nationally, Temple could surprise Iowa, the No. 5 team.

Southern Methodist, champion of the Southwest Conference and ranked seventh nationally, is not without its press clippings. Led by 6-8 Jim Krebs, the Mustangs have compiled a 25-2 record and ride a 19-game winning streak.

Southern Methodist Coach Doc Hayes has this to say about his team:

"While San Francisco may beat us by 50 points, I wouldn't go along with saying we didn't have a chance to win."

Podres Donning U. S. Navy Suit

BAINBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — Young Johnny Podres, the Brooklyn Dodgers' pitcher who kept New York hitters "at sea" in the 1955 World Series, started living the life of a sailor today.

Podres said he hoped to play baseball while in the Navy.

Trained Scientists Said Major Need

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. T. Keith Glennan, president of Case Institute of Technology, says lack of trained scientists will limit development of atomic energy.

Addressing the opening session of the three-day national production meeting of the society of automotive engineers yesterday, he said costs of atomic training equipment were too great.

Dr. Glennan, former member of the atomic energy commission, said the government will have to do more to help colleges equip themselves "to do the teaching job necessary in the field."

Medical Diploma Gyps Convicted

CLEVELAND (AP)—Edward M. B. Ownen and Robert J. Broadwell, convicted by a common pleas court jury of offering worthless medical diplomas for sale, were sentenced yesterday to one to three years in the Ohio Penitentiary.

Ownen, 75, came here in September, 1953. According to testimony, he offered chiropractors medical degrees from his "university" in Arcadia, Mo. The diploma and a simplified examination for an Ohio license were offered for $1,500. The prosecution called Ownen's "university" a "do-it-yourself medical school."

Broadwell, 30, was Ownen's agent in rounding up candidates for the degrees.

Bob Feller, one-time "boy wonder" of the Cleveland Indians, now is the oldest player on the roster. He is 37.

Rookies Pay Off For Cincy Redlegs

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts sent forth two Cincinnati Redleg rookies against Pittsburgh yesterday and they helped bring home a 5-2 exhibition game victory.

The two, Pat Scantlebury and Jack Taylor, yielded four hits to the Pirates, the only damaging one being a two-run homer by Dale Long in the seventh.

BEFORE being inducted into the armed forces, Johnny Podres, the Brooklyn World Series pitching hero, goes in for one last southpaw fling—with a snowball—outside N. Y. induction center. (International)

Milwaukee Stars Nursing Injuries

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Milwaukee Braves manager Charlie Grimm, an old first sacker himself, had first base worries today with Joe Adcock and Frank Torre nursing injuries.

Adcock, who has been hitting fairly well in spring drills, sat out yesterday's 11-1 blasting by the Yankees because of a sore leg.

Torre, a rookie having his batting woes, played but he was slowed down by a stiff knee.

Dayton Flyers Meet Xavier In NIT Test

NEW YORK (AP)—Dayton's top-seeded Flyers, determined to go all the way for a change, move into action against Xavier of Cincinnati tonight in the final half of the quarter-finals in the National Invitation Basketball tournament. Defending champion Duquesne and fourth-seeded Niagara already are among the missing.

The Daytons, who three times have wound up second best in the NIT, and Xavier go at it for the third time this season in the nightcap of the Madison Square Garden double-header. Third - seeded St. Joseph's of Philadelphia plays Seton Hall in the opener.

The Dayton-Xavier winner will meet little St. Francis of Brooklyn, which ousted Niagara with sheer hustle 74-72 in overtime last night, in Thursday's semifinals. The other semifinal will pair the St. Joseph's-Seton Hall survivor against second-seeded Louisville, which looked a bit shabby but clicked when it had to in eliminating Duquesne 84-72.

Scrappy St. Francis blew an 8-point lead with 3 minutes left in regulation time because of a reluctance to play it safe, but finally got home free on a jump shot by George Fox with 4 seconds left in the overtime.

It was the lone score of the 5-minute extra session after an unaccustomed freeze-up for 3½ minutes by the Terriers.

Carrasquel Hot For Indian Tribe

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Chico Carrasquel's hitting power is a surprise to manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians.

"He's a much better ball player than I thought he was," Lopez said. "I knew he was a great shortstop, but I didn't think he had as much power at the plate. He'll be a dangerous hitter in our park."

Lopez said the more he sees of Carrasquel the better he likes the deal in which the Indians sent Centerfielder Larry Doby to the Chicago White Sox in exchange for the agile shortstop and outfielder Jim Busby.

Fleck, Burkemo Ahead In Seminole

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Four birdies and 14 pars gave National Open Champion Jack Fleck of Davenport, Iowa, and Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., 68s and a tie today at the halfway point in the 36-hole Seminole Pro-Amateur Tournament.

Close behind as the bulky field went into the final round was the trio of Ben Hogan, Fort Worth, Tex.; Ed Furgol, St. Louis, and Ted Kroll, Fort Lauderdale, who posted 69s over the 6,901-yard par 72 course.

Within striking distance with 70s were seven pros including Dow Finsterwald, Athens, Ohio.

AAU Tourney To Produce Olympic Team

DENVER (AP)—Five favorites advanced in the first round of the National AAU Basketball Tournament yesterday, but the upsets traditional with the power-laden meet loom today for 10 more unseeded teams making tourney debuts.

With Olympic tryout bids awaiting both the winner and runners-up, pressure will rest most heavily on top-seeded teams. They won't see action until tomorrow.

By then the original 26-team field will be pared to 16. Shooting on an all-or-nothing basis, the unseeded first round winners will collide with such giants as defending champions Phillips 66 of Bartlesville, Okla., the Peoria, Ill., Caterpillars, Seattle's Duncan Bakers, Wichita Vickers and the Denver Central Bankers.

In yesterday's games Milwaukee's Allen-Bradley, sparked by 6-foot-9 Terry Rand of Marquette, pulled away in the final minutes from the dogged airmen of Westover (Mass.) Air Force Base, 83-76. Rand tallied 32 points.

The Jacksonville, Fla., Gibbs Vikings wore down the Dayton University freshmen, playing for Paul's Tobacco of Dayton, 66-60.

Of the 66 players listed on the West Virginia University football roster, 38 are native West Virginians. Only four live more than a 75 mile drive from the campus.

Objective Of NCAA Finalists Is To Mow Down Frisco '5'

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Three college basketball powers have but one objective in the NCAA finals beginning Thursday—to beat San Francisco's defending champions.

Only two, however, will get the opportunity. The first will be Southern Methodist's Mustangs and the other, if the Mustangs fail to pull the upset of the year, will be the winner of the Iowa-Temple game.

It's only natural that the Dons are marked men. They're riding the crest of a 53-game winning streak and are unbeaten in 27 games this season.

They've also been the No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll from the outset and in some quarters have been acclaimed the greatest college team of all time.

At the moment, Iowa appears to have the best chance of upsetting San Francisco. The Hawkeyes, 80-62 victors over Southern Methodist early in the season, have put together a 16-game winning string in grabbing the always hard-to-get Big Ten championship for a second straight year.

Iowa has a veteran team that has had a taste of NCAA competition, finishing fourth in last year's tournament. And the Hawkeyes are a defensive-minded club which can hold its own offensively.

Although the Hawks have no one player who can compare with San Francisco's Bill Russell, Iowa does have balance. No one Iowa player is anywhere near the nation's top scorers. Nor do the Hawkeyes have an all-America standout.

But Iowa's Carl Cain, Bill Logan, Bill Schoof, Sharm Sheuerman and Bill Seaberg know how to play together.

Like Iowa, Temple relies on team rather than individual effort. The Owls at one time put together a 20-game winning string and go into the finals with a 26-3 record. Temple's kingpins are Hal Lear and Guy Rodgers. Ranked 15th nationally, Temple could surprise Iowa, the No. 5 team.

Southern Methodist, champion of the Southwest Conference and ranked seventh nationally, is not without its press clippings. Led by 6-8 Jim Krebs, the Mustangs have compiled a 25-2 record and ride a 19-game winning streak.

Southern Methodist Coach Doc Hayes has this to say about his team:

"While San Francisco may beat us by 50 points, I wouldn't go along with saying we didn't have a chance to win."

Milwaukee Stars Nursing Injuries

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Milwaukee Braves manager Charlie Grimm, an old first sacker himself, had first base worries today with Joe Adcock and Frank Torre nursing injuries.

Adcock, who has been hitting fairly well in spring drills, sat out yesterday's 11-1 blasting by the Yankees because of a sore leg.

Torre, a rookie having his batting woes, played but he was slowed down by a stiff knee.

Rookies Pay Off For Cincy Redlegs

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts sent forth two Cincinnati Redleg rookies against Pittsburgh yesterday and they helped bring home a 5-2 exhibition game victory.

The two, Pat Scantlebury and Jack Taylor, yielded four hits to the Pirates, the only damaging one being a two-run homer by Dale Long in the seventh.

Podres Donning U. S. Navy Suit

BAINBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — Young Johnny Podres, the Brooklyn Dodgers' pitcher who kept New York hitters "at sea" in the 1955 World Series, started living the life of a sailor today.

Podres said he hoped to play baseball while in the Navy.

Trained Scientists Said Major Need

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. T. Keith Glennan, president of Case Institute of Technology, says lack of trained scientists will limit development of atomic energy.

Addressing the opening session of the three-day national production meeting of the society of automotive engineers yesterday, he said costs of atomic training equipment were too great.

Dr. Glennan, former member of the atomic energy commission, said the government will have to do more to help colleges equip themselves "to do the teaching job necessary in the field."

Medical Diploma Gyps Convicted

CLEVELAND (AP)—Edward M. B. Ownen and Robert J. Broadwell, convicted by a common pleas court jury of offering worthless medical diplomas for sale, were sentenced yesterday to one to three years in the Ohio Penitentiary.

Ownen, 75, came here in September, 1953. According to testimony, he offered chiropractors medical degrees from his "university" in Arcadia, Mo. The diploma and a simplified examination for an Ohio license were offered for $1,500. The prosecution called Ownen's "university" a "do-it-yourself medical school."

Broadwell, 30, was Ownen's agent in rounding up candidates for the degrees.

Bob Feller, one-time "boy wonder" of the Cleveland Indians, now is the oldest player on the roster. He is 37.

Dayton Flyers Meet Xavier In NIT Test

NEW YORK (AP)—Dayton's top-seeded Flyers, determined to go all the way for a change, move into action against Xavier of Cincinnati tonight in the final half of the quarter-finals in the National Invitation Basketball tournament. Defending champion Duquesne and fourth-seeded Niagara already are among the missing.

The Daytons, who three times have wound up second best in the NIT, and Xavier go at it for the third time this season in the nightcap of the Madison Square Garden double-header. Third - seeded St. Joseph's of Philadelphia plays Seton Hall in the opener.

The Dayton-Xavier winner will meet little St. Francis of Brooklyn, which ousted Niagara with sheer hustle 74-72 in overtime last night, in Thursday's semifinals. The other semifinal will pair the St. Joseph's-Seton Hall survivor against second-seeded Louisville, which looked a bit shabby but clicked when it had to in eliminating Duquesne 84-72.

Scrappy St. Francis blew an 8-point lead with 3 minutes left in regulation time because of a reluctance to play it safe, but finally got home free on a jump shot by George Fox with 4 seconds left in the overtime.

It was the lone score of the 5-minute extra session after an unaccustomed freeze-up for 3½ minutes by the Terriers.

Carrasquel Hot For Indian Tribe

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Chico Carrasquel's hitting power is a surprise to manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians.

"He's a much better ball player than I thought he was," Lopez said. "I knew he was a great shortstop, but I didn't think he had as much power at the plate. He'll be a dangerous hitter in our park."

Lopez said the more he sees of Carrasquel the better he likes the deal in which the Indians sent Centerfielder Larry Doby to the Chicago White Sox in exchange for the agile shortstop and outfielder Jim Busby.

Fleck, Burkemo Ahead In Seminole

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Four birdies and 14 pars gave National Open Champion Jack Fleck of Davenport, Iowa, and Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., 68s and a tie today at the halfway point in the 36-hole Seminole Pro-Amateur Tournament.

Close behind as the bulky field went into the final round was the trio of Ben Hogan, Fort Worth, Tex.; Ed Furgol, St. Louis, and Ted Kroll, Fort Lauderdale, who posted 69s over the 6,901-yard par 72 course.

Within striking distance with 70s were seven pros including Dow Finsterwald, Athens, Ohio.

Cincinnati's Mohawks, already holding the league championship, have won one and lost one in their best-of-five series with the Fort Wayne Komets.

AAU Tourney To Produce Olympic Team

DENVER (AP)—Five favorites advanced in the first round of the National AAU Basketball Tournament yesterday, but the upsets traditional with the power-laden meet loom today for 10 more unseeded teams making tourney debuts.

With Olympic tryout bids awaiting both the winner and runners-up, pressure will rest most heavily on top-seeded teams. They won't see action until tomorrow.

By then the original 26-team field will be pared to 16. Shooting on an all-or-nothing basis, the unseeded first round winners will collide with such giants as defending champions Phillips 66 of Bartlesville, Okla., the Peoria, Ill., Caterpillars, Seattle's Duncan Bakers, Wichita Vickers and the Denver Central Bankers.

In yesterday's games Milwaukee's Allen-Bradley, sparked by 6-foot-9 Terry Rand of Marquette, pulled away in the final minutes from the dogged airmen of Westover (Mass.) Air Force Base, 83-76. Rand tallied 32 points.

The Jacksonville, Fla., Gibbs Vikings wore down the Dayton University freshmen, playing for Paul's Tobacco of Dayton, 66-60.

Of the 66 players listed on the West Virginia University football roster, 38 are native West Virginians. Only four live more than a 75 mile drive from the campus.

DAR Leader Voices Alert Against Reds

CLEVELAND (AP) — A warning against Communist infiltration of American homes, schools and churches was voiced Monday night as the 57th annual encampment of the Ohio Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Miss Gertrude S. Carraway of Washington, president general of the national society, told the state organization:

"Now is the time for Americans, particularly Daughters of the American Revolution, to speak up for America and stand together against our common foe—the Communist conspirator—whose avowed aim is to conquer the whole world, including our own United States."

She said citizens of this country need to be informed about both communism and Americanism. She defined Americanism as "a creed, a philosophy, a way of life—faith belief that man, with God's help is capable of self-rule."

Stressing the importance of junior memberships, State Regent Mrs. Marshall Haynes Bixler of Fremont, said the Ohio DAR has 510 members between the ages of 18 and 35.

The society announced that Carolyn Sisson of Gallia Academy high school of Gallipolis placed first in its good citizenship competition sponsored among high school students.

Match Firm To Absorb Food Company

WADSWORTH, Ohio (AP)—A proposal for Ohio Match Co. to acquire stock of Hunt Foods Inc. will be submitted for Ohio stockholder approval at a special meeting April 10, it was announced today.

The deal calls for exchange of one share of Ohio $100 par 5 per cent preferred stock for 10 shares of Hunt $10 par 5 per cent preference stock and an exchange of common on the basis of two shares of Ohio for one of Hunt.

As an alternative, Hunt common stockholders could accept one share of Ohio common together with one-fifth share of Ohio preferred for each share of Hunt common. The amount of Ohio preferred available for this alternative is limited to 18,302 shares.

The offer to become effective must be accepted by holders of at least 80 per cent of Hunt voting stock as well as 80 per cent of all other classes of Hunt stock.

Under terms of the deal, Hunt would become a subsidiary of Ohio. Based on 1955 operations, combined sales of the two companies would amount to $107,398,260 and their combined net income would be $4,268,381.

The proposed transaction already has been approved by Ohio directors. The proxy statement noted that "increased size of the combined organization with its diversification would add stability and other advantages not available to each company separately."

The increase in U. S. population since 1900 about equals the entire combined present population of New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and California.

CLEVELAND (AP) — A warning against Communist infiltration of American homes, schools and churches was voiced Monday night as the 57th annual encampment of the Ohio Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Miss Gertrude S. Carraway of Washington, president general of the national society, told the state organization:

Match Firm To Absorb Food Company

WADSWORTH, Ohio (AP)—A proposal for Ohio Match Co. to acquire stock of Hunt Foods Inc. will be submitted for Ohio stockholder approval at a special meeting April 10, it was announced today.

The deal calls for exchange of one share of Ohio $100 par 5 per cent preferred stock for 10 shares of Hunt $10 par 5 per cent preference stock and an exchange of common on the basis of two shares of Ohio for one of Hunt.

As an alternative, Hunt common stockholders could accept one share of Ohio common together with one-fifth share of Ohio preferred for each share of Hunt common. The amount of Ohio preferred available for this alternative is limited to 18,302 shares.

The offer to become effective must be accepted by holders of at least 80 per cent of Hunt voting stock as well as 80 per cent of all other classes of Hunt stock.

Under terms of the deal, Hunt would become a subsidiary of Ohio. Based on 1955 operations, combined sales of the two companies would amount to $107,398,260 and their combined net income would be $4,268,381.

The proposed transaction already has been approved by Ohio directors. The proxy statement noted that "increased size of the combined organization with its diversification would add stability and other advantages not available to each company separately."

The increase in U. S. population since 1900 about equals the entire combined present population of New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and California.

Ex-Fairground Chief 'Short' By $964.36

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A finding of $964.36 against a Richard E. Reynolds, former superintendent of the Ohio State Fairgrounds, was contained in a report released Sunday by James A. Rhodes, state auditor.

The report lists $8,623 as money paid to Reynolds for which there was no accounting.

The audit covers the period July 1, 1949, to Oct. 31, 1955 for rental of state fair buildings, water, labor, electricity, clean-up and other charges for events during the time the state fair was not held.

Reynolds was removed last week as superintendent by A. L. Sorenson, state agriculture director.Sorenson also removed Carl H. Henson, clerk in the office of the superintendent, on a charge of falsifying payroll records.

Rhodes said the examination of Reynolds' records showed Henson had been compensated last year for 210 hours worked on certain days whereas his time card showed only 107 hours worked.

The $964.36 findings by the state examiner were listed under funds unaccounted for in the form of payment for services.

Rhodes said in at least eight instances firms were able to exhibit canceled checks in payment with Reynolds' endorsement but that there was no entry of the payment.

The report also charged that Reynolds listed his wife on some of the labor pay rolls as a "carpenter" and "laborer" under the name of "E. C. Pagels."

The report said Reynolds explained his wife's presence on the pay rolls by saying that she helped him in his work.

Ohio Is for Ike

tude, Lausche says he is keeping strictly neutral as between such aspirants for the nomination as Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

None of these three currently is given more than a remote chance to carry Ohio against Eisenhower. But any withdrawal of Eisenhower as a candidate would alter the picture overnight.

In this period more than seven months before the election few Ohio politicians would give any other Republican more than a barely even chance to win the state. And that includes Vice President Nixon, whose Republican stock has been boosted by recent Eisenhower statements.

In the corner grocery stores, the filling stations, the barber shops and the bars of Ohio much of the talk has been about the President's health.

A cross-section check of the man on the street and the politicians discloses that the average voter accepts the verdict of the President and his doctors that Eisenhower is good for another five years in the White House, despite his Sept. 24 heart attack.

There is some dissent. For instance, C. V. Sells, a Henrysburg funeral director who is a Democrat but said he never voted a straight ticket, avowed that "Ike has no business running again."

"He ought to go back to Gettysburg and raise violets," Sells said. "He will live longer if he does. Of course, it depends on who the Democrats nominate whether I vote for him again. I might do it."

Other comment:

Perry Philpot, coal mine core drilling tester: "Eisenhower is as good a man as you can find. I'm a Democrat but I ususally vote for the man and I'm doing as well as I ever did under the Democrats."

Paul Harpold, tool and die manufacturer: "As far as Eisenhower's health is concerned, I think it's just like Al Smith said about Roosevelt: 'You don't have to be an acrobat to be President.' "

Thomas Hartrum, filling station operator: "I'm a regular Democrat but I'm going to vote for Ike. Nixon has done about as good a job as any vice president could."

C. Y. Newton, farmer: "I guess the President's farm program is all right but I don't think it will help me much. What we need is some immediate relief. I think I'll wait a while before I decide who to vote for."

E. H. Purviance, antiques dealer: "I've had a heart condition since 1926 and I know I've done a lot of hard work since then. Ike just has to watch himself. The farmers I talk to don't think anybody has the answer to their problem but they seem to think Ike is trying."

Maxwell Littleton, bellhop: "I voted for Stevenson in 1952 but I think President Eisenhower is a pretty good man and I might vote for him this time. But, boy, Gov. Lausche is my man."

37th Legion Birthday Observed at Party Here

The after - dinner program spotlight was beamed on Phil Lustig, of Cleveland, the state commander, and Bill Miller of Portsmouth, the district commander. It was from them that the Legionnaires were brought up to date on affairs of this organization of veterans of the country's armed forces who served during times of war.

Commander Lustig took time for a special explanation of the war veterans security legislation now pending before Congress.

For entertainment, there were three songs by The Vets quartet.

The meeting was opened by Post Commander Bill Marshall and then turned over to Bill Stoughton, a member of the post here and vice commander of the district, Stoughton carried on from there as the master of ceremonies introducing the speakers and some of the other guests.

* * *

Lapel pins for achievement during the member sign-up were awarded to 14 members of the post here; these were the Legionnaires who signed up five or more members.

The top award, however — an award in which the district participated — went to Francis Morgan, a past commander of the post, who led the campaign with 67 new members signed.

There were two other features that were somewhat out of the ordinary: a display of weapons used by a heavy weapons outfit and the "new look" of the hall which is nearing the end of a remodeling and redecorating program. The weapons display, which attracted much attention, was made by Company H of the 332nd Infantry Reserve Army Training unit here. Lieut. Jack Trimmer was in charge of the display in the absence of the company commander, Lieut. Don Wood.

Invitations had been sent to all other posts in the district to join in the birthday party and members from six of them accepted; they came from Portsmouth, Ashville, Peebles, Chillicothe, Circleville and Richmondale.
